Delay Apollo Landing by Single Orbit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Flight controllers today delayed Thursday's Apollo 9 landing by one orbit—90 minutes—to escape storm-lashed seas southwest of Bermuda.

By circling the globe an extra time, the astronauts will land 480 miles south of the main splashdown area, near Grand Turk Island in the Bahamas, where weather conditions are expected to be excellent.

The new splashdown time is 10:56 a.m. CST.

Before making the decision, flight director Eugene Kranz weighed such things as how fast the recovery ship, the carrier Guadalcanal, could reach the new touchdown point, tracking facilities for the new re-entry track, and where Apollo 9 would land if its retro-rocket failed to fire and if it had to make emergency use of jet controls to come home an orbit or two later.

Astronauts James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. Schweickart favored the alternate landing plan.

When astronaut Stuart Roosa, the capsule communicator, reported the forecast for the Bermuda area was "grim"—10 miles visibility, 23 knot winds, waves six to eight feet and swells 10 to 12 feet, McDivitt commented: "Visibility's good."

Hearing that the prediction for the Grand Turk area for Thursday was 10 miles visibility, winds light and variable, waves two to three feet and swells six to seven feet, the Apollo 9 commander exclaimed: "Hey, let's go there! Let's go there!"

Later, with the Guadalcanal reporting 14 foot swells and 2,000 foot visibility, McDivitt said: "I don't think anybody up here is good enough sailor for that."

"Roger, we agree down here too," Roosa said.

McDivitt inquired whether the Guadalcanal could reach the backup landing zone and was told that it was only 16 hours away and could easily make it. "We need that cake," joked Scott, referring to a 350-pound cake that the Guadalcanal has waiting for Apollo 9's return.

The Guadalcanal, which has been riding out the storm for several days, steamed Monday to a central position, ready to move swiftly to whatever recovery zone was selected.

McDivitt expressed concern Monday when he spotted whitecaps in the recovery area from more than 100 miles in space.

"That's not down to my specifications," the Apollo 9 commander said, when informed of the forecast.

"I want those recovery guys to find a nice soft piece of water with no wind and no waves, and lots of sunshine, too... Oh yes, I forgot one thing. A couple helicopters too," he said.

Rocket Attacks Ease; Feel More Battling Ahead

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong's rocket and mortar attacks dropped off sharply today, but American officers said it might be only a pause in the enemy's 18-day-old spring offensive.

U.S. sources pointed out that the communist command still has thousands of troops it has not committed to the offensive yet. They said a new wave of attacks could come any day and that the rest of this week is a critical period.

Allied spokesmen reported 20 rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases and towns during the night, compared to about 60 the night before. U.S. headquarters said casualties were light.

Five more ground fights Tuesday were reported, resulting in the deaths of 126 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and 10 Americans.

U.S. headquarters reported 76 men of the enemy were killed in an abortive ambush of a 50-truck convoy 43 miles northwest of Saigon. Spokesmen said the only American casualties were eight men wounded, and one truck loaded with beer was slightly damaged.

The North Vietnamese battalion, about 400 troops, apparently tried to spring the trap too soon or too late.

"We were laying for them," said a spokesman for the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. "We knew they've been wanting to ambush one of our convoys."

The 25th Division had about 150 infantrymen and a column of armored personnel carriers equipped with .50-caliber machine guns and flame throwers reconnoitering the highway between the division headquarters at Cu Chi and a supply base at Dau Tieng.

The supply trucks, carrying ammunition and general cargo, were within three miles of Dau Tieng when the forward reconnaissance troops ran into the rear guard of the enemy lying in wait.

"They started a fire fight," said the 25th Division spokesman, "and the enemy's main ambush force got excited."

The American convoy was in three sections. One section already had passed the ambush site.

"The third section of the convoy just barreled on through," the spokesman said, while the armored personnel carriers turned flamethrowers on the enemy positions.

"We hosed them down," said the spokesman. "About 75 enemy broke and ran and we caught them with artillery."

American helicopter gunships and dive-bombers also raked the North Vietnamese positions on both sides of the road.

De Gaulle Vows To Fight Labor Wage Demand

PARIS (AP) — After 24 hours of cold-water shaves and hitchhiking to work, France returned to normal today with President Charles de Gaulle wrathfully vowing to defend "the currency, the economy and the republic" against labor's demands for higher wages.

The big labor unions felt Tuesday's general strike and a demonstration in Paris by an estimated 60,000 to 100,000 workers would pressure the government into raising its wage increase offer above the 4 per cent limit. The unions are asking for 10 to 12 per cent more.

De Gaulle in a broadcast Tuesday night stood firm, warning that France is just starting to recover from the crippling effects of last spring's student-labor turmoil. He said strikers would not be allowed to threaten the franc with devaluation and throw the country into chaos again.

The 78-year-old French leader accused the labor bosses of unleashing "a new offensive... threatening to bring down the currency, the economy and the republic."

"Do I need to declare they will be firmly defended?" he asked.

WINDOW-DRESSING FOR PRIVATE ACTIVITY

Peace Talks: Way of Holding Fort

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks have taken on the look of a time-marking exercise to hold the fort. They appear to have been downgraded by window-dressing for prospective private activity that might be more fruitful.

Developments could come in diplomatic dialogue between

Washington and Hanoi, carried on by third parties, or some time in the future between the Saigon government and the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

Statements by South Vietnamese representatives indicate Saigon is sometimes restive under American leadership, of a mind to do some tentative probing of its own, and fed up with what Saigon's foreign minister calls the "dialogue de sourds"—the dialogue of the deaf—in Paris. The NLF also seems at times to be creating problems for its North Vietnamese sponsors by publicly and categorically resisting the idea of secret negotiations.

Neither the South Vietnamese government nor the National Liberation Front appears overenthusiased by the idea of secret talks. Either might be presented with some sort of fait accompli worked out by the United States and North Vietnam.

The NLF insists that anything the Americans want to bring up can be discussed at the weekly talk sessions, which have produced nothing but repetitious statements of mutually unacceptable positions.

The South Vietnamese government seems to want to turn its back on Paris and search hopefully for some long-range solution with elements of the NLF or with Hanoi.

The United States would have no objection to such a Vietnamese solution if it proved workable. But it might be unhappy if Saigon sought to exclude other avenues, including secret U.S.-North Vietnamese contacts.

Hanoi's representatives have indicated at times that they favor the idea of secret negotiations but complain that the Americans have barred the way. The Americans have been saying all along that they consider secret negotiations the only hope of progress.

Re-entry and Recovery Most Critical Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — In man's reach for the stars, his return to mother earth remains the most dangerous part of the adventure.

Re-entry and recovery is still the least controlled and most imprecise maneuver of a tightly controlled and very precise business.

Earth landings from space have been hundreds of miles off target at worst, and thousands of yards off at best.

The only man to die in a space flight was killed on re-entry. And one of the nearest approaches to death by an American spaceman came after re-entry, but before recovery.

Soviet cosmonaut Vladimir M. Kormarov, after safely flying 18 orbits on April 24, 1967, was killed when he returned. Parachutes on his spacecraft failed and he died as his spacecraft crashed to the earth.

Virgil I. Grissom had to swim for his life when his Liberty Bell 7 spacecraft sank after landing safely in the Atlantic Ocean following a suborbit flight in 1961.

Three of the other original seven American astronauts also had cliff-hanger re-entries. John H. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, re-entered after a light flashed aboard his Friendship 7 spacecraft giving an indication the vehicle's heat shield had broken loose. It had not.

Scott Carpenter's Aurora 7 flight ended with a 250-mile overshoot of the landing zone and naval ships spent hours hunting him in the Atlantic Ocean while the world held its breath.

L. Gordon Cooper had to fly his Faith 7 spacecraft to its landing zone manually after an automatic re-entry system failed on board.

Gemini V, with astronauts Cooper and Charles Conrad aboard, had to land one orbit early to avoid a brewing hurricane.

Because of the imprecision of re-entry—the spacecraft cannot be controlled in the atmosphere—huge areas of the earth's surface must be earmarked for a return from space.

The American space program, with the services of a two-ocean Navy, uses the seas for landing strips. Russia, with one-seventh of the earth's land mass within its borders, uses its northeastern area.

BEATLE WEDS... Beatle Paul McCartney and Linda Eastman, an American photographer, are seen in a car with Linda's daughter, Heather, by a previous marriage, as they leave Marlybone Registry office after their London wedding. (AP Photofax)

McCartney Weds; Sour Apples to Female Fans

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney, the last bachelor Beatle, married a blonde American divorcee in a civil ceremony today, pushed his way through 50 screaming girls and said, "I feel fine."

McCartney, 26, smiled broadly as he left the Marlybone Registry office with his bride, Linda Eastman, 27.

The new Mrs. McCartney, who is 27, appeared bewildered and frightened as teenage girls surged around her, screaming, "Paul! Paul!" She carried her 6-year-old daughter, Heather, by a previous marriage.

Miss Eastman is a photographer and a daughter of a New York lawyer. (AP Photofax) young female admirers sobbed and clutched bouquets as they broke away from 250 other spectators and pushed through a police line to McCartney and his bride coming down the registry office steps.

After the couple struggled into an automobile, the girls pounded on the roof and windows and threw themselves over the hood.

The assault on the car was repeated when it stopped at a traffic light a few yards away. Police led four sobbing girls away, one officer holding two girls in his arms.

On the white gateposts outside McCartney's London home, the slogan "Paul, we love you" was scrawled hundreds of times in chalk and lipstick. The pledges were crossed out Tuesday night, and the girls added "Not any more."

The outbursts of youthful grief were touched off by McCartney's announcement Tuesday that he would marry the young woman who has been living with him since November.

Just after Miss Eastman went into the house Tuesday afternoon carrying a bouquet of daisies, three police cars pulled up outside. The teen-agers were clutching each other and sobbing against the high brick wall.

"My God, what's going on here?" asked one of the policemen.

"We're so unhappy," a girl wailed. "We didn't want Paul to get married."

Aerial Survey to Trace Flood Potential of Major Waterways

ST. PAUL (AP)—The Army Corps of Engineers and the Air Force are conducting an aerial survey to trace the flood potential of major waterways in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas.

Obstructions to the water flow will be dynamited or bulldozed away, the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) said Tuesday.

The OEP is coordinating a massive interdepartmental federal study of flood threats ordered by President Nixon.

The worst floods are expected in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The Red Cross has already set up flood watch headquarters at Minneapolis, Omaha, Neb., and Rock Island, Ill.

Snow melt has the biggest potential for raising river levels that's been seen in a 21-state area since the Weather Bureau started keeping records nearly 100 years ago.

Col. Richard Hesse, district engineer for the Army's Corps of Engineers at St. Paul, has ordered a million sandbags to be made available to local, state or federal flood-fighting groups.

Sand pits are being scooped out, Hesse said. Lumber and water pumps are being hauled into flood-threatened areas, he said.

The OEP reported that contracts for emergency construction of levees have been let in threatened areas of Minnesota, Iowa, Montana and Missouri.

Construction equipment will be provided for emergency areas through an agreement between the government and the Associated General Contractors of America.

A task force, headed by OEP

Director George A. Lincoln, has begun stockpiling emergency equipment and reviewing plans for flooding.

Federal Aviation Agency regional offices are testing facility and area disaster control plans and the Federal Railroad Administration will gather information on rail traffic interruptions and detour roads.

The Transportation Department also reports that 3,500 railroad freight cars are hauling potatoes, grain and other foodstuffs out of threatened areas of Minnesota and North Dakota.

The OEP reported that the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department has informed the Red Cross in St. Paul that cots and blankets which may be needed in Minnesota are available.

The Red Cross has plans to call as many as 10,000 volunteers to aid potential flood victims in the state.

The Weather Bureau's flood expert said the threat of near record floods in Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin is just as great as ever despite a recent break in the weather.

Although there hasn't been much precipitation lately, said Joseph Strub, the "water content in the snow and ground hasn't dropped and is just as great as before.

"We've had no runoff yet except for southeastern Wisconsin," added Strub. "And the fact we aren't getting any precipitation is deceiving. It just increases the chances on getting heavier rain or snow when it does come."

Strub will issue his first official flood forecast of the season Thursday.

THE 'HABIT' TAKES MANY FORMS

To Combat Evils of Narcotics, Parents Must Know the Enemies

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science
Writer

Wise parents will try to lead from the strength of knowledge in discussing drugs with their children. Only that way are they likely to be effective; only that way can they speak intelligently.

Knowledge in this case must be based on the facts about the drugs themselves—what they're like and what they do to people. Here is a rundown on the principal drugs being used or abused.

MARIJUANA

IT'S MORE commonly known as pot, grass, Mary Jane, hay, joint, reefer, stick or by a dozen other names.

As generally used in the United States, marijuana is a mild drug that produces fantasies. Smokers may develop a psychological need for it. But it is not physically habit forming—quitting it doesn't cause any physical withdrawal symptoms.

It is not a narcotic, and neither are other hallucination-producing drugs. Marijuana is under narcotics control for various reasons. But true narcotics usually produce sleep or stupor and relieve pain; they can be addictive or habit forming.

Marijuana comes from the female hemp plant, Cannabis sativa. The leaves and flowering tops are dried, sometimes are mixed with tobacco, and rolled into a cigarette.

The effects, felt in a few minutes, usually last three to five hours, but may go on for 12. Reefers can vary widely in potency, depending on their content of the active plant ingredient.

Typically, most smokers have a feeling of great well-being, of feeling high, like having had a few alcoholic drinks. They may become talkative and hilarious, or fall into a dreamy state. Their ideas flow rapidly, sometimes in disconnected fashion.

They fantasize, and sometimes have a deeper appreciation of works of art or music. Time stretches out. Distance and sounds are magnified.

Other smokers may feel irritable and confused, or become fearful.

LSD

LSD IS so potent that a dose no larger than the point of a pin is enough to send most people off on amazing "trips" within their own minds. LSD stands for lysergic acid diethylamide, and is often simply called acid, trips, cubes, pearly gates or heavenly blue.

It's supplied, quite illegally, as a powder in capsules, small white pills, or a colorless, tasteless liquid that can be soaked into sugar cubes or crackers.

A trip usually begins 30 to 45 minutes after the drug is swallowed, and lasts eight to 12 hours. How a person reacts depends on the dose, the person himself, his mood, and the setting.

Most users report seeing brilliant colors, starbursts, and distortion of geometric objects. Senses may blend so colors appear to be tasted. Sensitivity to sound increases. Objects may pulsate. Something as familiar as a teacup can appear to be an object of fantastic beauty and wonder. Feelings of creativity are enhanced. Time may slow, then race ahead, or even seem to go backward.

On bad trips, users may feel cut off, alone, anxious, panicky. Some land in hospitals for treatment of mental disturbances, and a few have killed or injured themselves.

No physical dependence develops, but psychological dependence may.

OTHER HALLUCINATION DRUGS
Mescaline: From the buttons of a small cactus plant—peyote or mescal. It is also supplied illegally as a powder or liquid. Far milder than LSD, its effects last 10 to 12 hours.

PEYOTE itself, a less concentrated form of mescaline, therefore milder.

PSILOCYBIN from a Mexican mushroom, supplied in crystal, powder, or liquid form. Its effects last two to six hours generally, and are similar to those from mescaline.

DMT (dimethyltryptamine) produces effects like those from LSD when taken in larger doses. Effects last an hour or two.

STP (also known as DOM), a synthetic chemical related to mescaline and amphetamines, is reported to be extremely mind-distorting but less so than LSD.

MORNING GLORY SEEDS of a few varieties contain an active principle closely related to LSD, but far less potent.

BARBITURATES AND DEPRESSANTS

TO DRUG abusers, barbiturates are known by many nicknames—goofballs, bars, candy, yellow jackets, seccy, rainbows, blue devils, and the like.

Numerous people become physically and psychologically dependent upon barbiturates—there are many types—for sleep, or to combat anxiety or tensions. When tolerance builds up, the drugs stimulate rather than depress.

Some abusers use barbiturates combined with pep pills for a see-saw effect, or take the barbiturates to reduce the jitters that pep pills cause. When combined with alcohol, the kick from barbiturates can be fatal.

Prolonged use of barbiturates can lead to impaired judgement and intellectual performance, to bizarre behavior, slurred speech, tremor, self-neglect. Abrupt withdrawal in a dependent user may lead to nausea, fever, hallucinations, convulsions, coma, and even death.

AMPHETAMINES AND STIMULANTS

THERE'S A big black market in amphetamines and other stimulant drugs—commonly called pep pills, wake-ups, bennies, dexies, coplots, footballs. Medically, amphetamines are used to combat appetite, to relieve mild depression, and for other purposes. Truck drivers may take them to stay awake on long hauls, or students to stay up late studying for exams.

Overuse and abuse induce a sense of good feeling, excitement, boundless energy, a sense that feeling tired has gone out of style.

Amphetamines do not cause physical dependence. Quitting this habit doesn't cause physical distress.

In large amounts, amphetamines can induce hallucinations and delusions or psychoses, especially if injected. Methamphetamine or Speed, is one very dangerous drug which some abusers have been injecting.

COCAINE, from the leaf of the coca plant, was one of the earliest stimulant drugs. High doses can induce happy feelings and hallucinations. Overdoses may cause convulsions and death.

HEROIN AND OTHER NARCOTICS

OPIUM FROM the poppy plant, was the ancient forerunner of powerful pain-relieving and depressant drugs. Morphine is a derivative, and a priceless medical painkiller at times.

Heroin, closely related to morphine, has no medical uses, but at least 60,000 Americans are addicted to it. They use heroin—the big H, horse, junk—to induce a sense of good feeling, to reduce feelings of fear, anxiety and tension.

The user can "go on the nod," becoming sleepy, and "safe," from problems and challenges. This effect, depending on dose and potency, usually lasts only three to four hours. Then the habitual user must seek more drug.

Narcotics can become his way of life, and a costly one, often supported by crime. Most authorities say the narcotics addict steals, burgles or engages in prostitution to get money, rather than committing violent crimes.

These narcotics produce both physical and psychological dependence. Pregnant women who continue using heroin or allied drugs may have newborn babies who show all the troubles of narcotics withdrawal. Such babies may die unless treated immediately with antidotes.

Heroin users usually become truly "hooked" after taking the drug daily for a week or so. Some youngsters seeking kicks abuse cough syrups containing codeine, an opium derivative, or medicines containing paregoric, containing a dilute amount of opium.

GLUE SNIFFING

SNIFFING airplane glue, or gasoline, and vapors from other products is a persistent and dangerous, if low-level, fad among the very young and some teenagers.

Solvents in the vapors can act as poisons, resulting in permanent damage to the nervous system and liver, and big enough doses can be fatal. Youngsters sniffing the vapors become dizzy, and can think the experience is "fun."

New Bishop Says Celibacy Important

By VI BENICKE
Daily News Church Editor

Celibacy is a very important aspect of priestly life, the Most Rev. Loras J. Watters, auxiliary for the Archdiocese of Dubuque, said in an interview this morning at the rectory of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, his new home.

Bishop Watters will be installed as the fifth bishop of the Diocese of Winona Thursday afternoon at the Cathedral.

THE NEW bishop believes that a priest could not have complete and total dedication and use of his time, to the advantage of the people, if he were not a celibate.

On the other hand, Bishop Watters pointed out there are married priests in the Oriental church. However, he said that he would have to go along with Pope Paul's Encyclical on celibacy, urging "that the glorious tradition in the Western church continue."

Bishop Watters feels that it is terribly unfair to draw attention to a few who have asked for release from their celibacy vows when there are more than 235 priests in the diocese who are doing "a terrific job."

Reasons cited for asking for release from this particular tradition and health problems. A possible development is a lay person becoming a deacon.

He said that the church will not change its outlook on its values and ideals for so very few. The question is how to help resolve the problem in some honorable way, he pointed out.

REGARDING improvement of race relations, Bishop Watters said we "obviously have not been able to get the job done."

But this pertains to Protestants as well as Catholics, he said; as long as the problem continues, enough is not being done.

He explained that the complex problem seems to stem from lack of communication and understanding.

"If individuals possess Christian charity and unselfish concern for others, this kind of relationship with Christ should encourage people to work toward the solution of these race problems."

THE ROLE of the laity in the church is an important one, according to Bishop Watters. More and more responsibility is being placed on the lay person. This is dependent upon the lay person's attitude, values and time and is governed by what he believes his part in the church should be.

A possible development is a lay person becoming a deacon.

This would mean there could be one less priest. Four centers are being set up for the training of deacons. A class at St. John's at Collegeville will begin next fall.

Obviously, Pope Paul VI made it pretty plain on the position of the church in regard to birth control, said Bishop Watters. History proves that the popes of 30 to 40 years ago were way ahead of social problems since the problems have become an accepted pattern.

People express unhappiness with the Pope's encyclical and yet there are many in favor of it, said the bishop.

BISHOP Watters recalled when he was first ordained and many persons came to him with the problem of an inability to have children.

"I wonder if this kind of thing might come up as a result of the present day attitude of some of the people," he mused.

The thrust of the Vatican II council was to readjust and reassess the basic Catholic truth and Bishop Watters said he is very much in favor of this.

He said that he is not well acquainted with the diocese but since there are 116,000 Catholics in it he is well aware of the importance of a school system.

Bishop Watters is convinced that the Catholic schools are essential for the preservation of "our Catholic way of life in this pluralistic society." He feels that the non-public schools should be continued and improved.

CONSOLIDATION may be the answer and there is no problem that money cannot solve, he added. We will have as much Catholic education as our people want and I know they want a great deal.

Bishop Watters said he hopes to be a "people's bishop" since he feels the importance of contact with individuals. However, he pointed out there must be a proper balance with this contact and office work.

A day has only so many hours, he added.

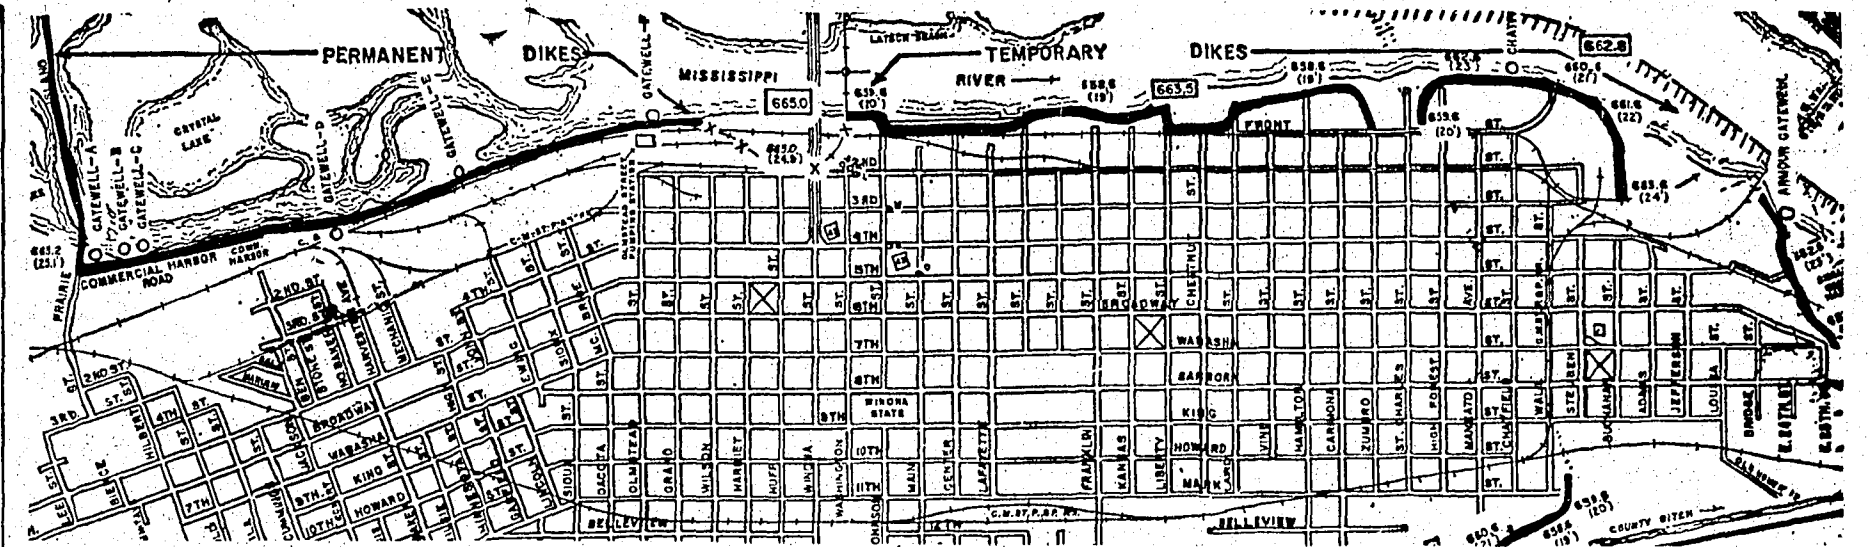

He hopes to continue the splendid work of the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, who has retired. He said he will call upon Bishop Fitzgerald for background information and suggestions and hopes he will participate in matters of the church in any way he desires.

Forty-two new churches were established during the past 20 years, Bishop Watters seems to feel this should take care of the people's immediate needs. However, he hopes the diocese will continue to grow and if shifts in population and more Catholics call for the starting of new churches he will oblige.

"I WANT TO do what the people want me to do," he pointed out.

The whole question of vocations is really a mystery, said Bishop Watters. Surely it is a gift — a grace that God gives. However, he said that the fact that God chose him to be a priest was not the all important thing, but "why did he choose me when surely there must be persons more qualified?"

The sources of help, as evidenced by the lives of hundreds of priests is through prayer, administration of the Sacraments and Mass, said Bishop Watters.

Independence Creamery Closing Doors

INDEPENDENCE, Wis.—The Independence Cooperative Creamery will be closed.

A 33 to 30 vote of patrons and stockholders Tuesday afternoon decided the issue at a meeting attended by about 100 in city hall.

The arrangements for the closing and the disbursements of assets will be handled by the board of directors. The directors also will recommend to patrons which of three creameries to sell their milk.

Representatives of the three organizations — Land O'Lakes Creameries, Whitehall, Wis.; Western Wisconsin Dairies, Blair, and A-G Cooperative, Arcadia—presented proposals for handling the milk from the present patronage which totals 65 with a volume of 14 million pounds of milk a year.

Patrons may select their own output. Some are also considering the Elk Creek creamery as a possibility.

A drop in patronage and milk intake forced the directors to call for a vote of patrons, according to Edward Pientok, chairman of the board of directors. Rising cost of operations for a smaller volume of milk also had a part in calling for the vote.

The creamery served as a receiving station and the milk was sold to Western Wisconsin Dairies.

Republicans Set Fund Campaign

A 1969 "Neighbor-to-Neighbor" grass roots fund drive will be conducted beginning April 13, members of the Winona County Republican party executive committee were told Tuesday night.

Heading up the drive is Tim Slade, 153 W. Wabasha St. He reported to the committee which met at the home of County Chairman Maurice McCauley, 404 E. Howard St.

Sitting in on the session were the 1st District chairman, J. Robert Stassen, South St. Paul, and Roger Johnson, district field representative. Committee members also agreed to set up a county headquarters office in the Exchange Building, Winona, that will be open on a regular schedule. The opening date will be announced later.

Other business included the filling of several vacancies in precinct organizations throughout the county, according to Ronald Putz, county GOP information director.

TEMPORARY DIKES PLANNED . . . This map, prepared by the Winona city engineer's department, shows locations of temporary dikes that will be raised to protect the city against spring flooding. Map reproduction is in two parts. The section at right shows details of dikes planned for Sugar Loaf and Mankato Avenue areas. The other section shows dikes which protect westerly portions.

A contract was let Monday night by the City Council for temporary dike construction but work will not begin until a definite go-ahead is given by the city. The work order will be issued as soon as it becomes certain that flooding will occur. An official Weather Bureau flood forecast is scheduled for Thursday.

Suez Quiet; Fighting in Jordan Valley

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Suez Canal was reported quiet today, but Arab and Israeli forces traded fire in the Jordan Valley and Israeli soldiers fired in the air to quell a schoolboys' riot in the occupied Gaza Strip.

Three artillery duels along the 103-mile canal—two last weekend and a four-hour exchange Tuesday—cost the Israelis five soldiers killed and 25 wounded, the army said. It denied Egyptian claims that Arab forces inflicted "enormous damage" on the Israeli side of the canal.

But Israeli sources feared the Egyptians really believe their own propaganda and might try to cross into the Sinai Desert in force.

The Egyptians are really in deep mud on the other side of the canal and who knows what they may try to do," said one highly placed military informant.

U.N. observers blamed the Arabs for starting all three artillery battles. The duels Saturday and Sunday cost Egypt the life of its army chief of staff and extensive damage to its oil refinery in Port Suez.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban arrived in Washington Tuesday night, saying he had come to "find out the policy" of the new U.S. administration. He was to confer today with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, and will meet with President Nixon on Thursday.

Preparedness calls "one of the worst flood threats in history."

Army Corps of Engineers personnel are assisting local and state officials in pointing out potential dangers and improvement of dikes constructed after the 1965 floods, according to Col. Richard J. Hesse, district engineer, St. Paul.

Col. Hesse has ordered a million sandbags to be made available to localities in case of extreme emergency. In addition, $50,000 worth of pumps are being hauled to flood-threatened areas.

Winona has reserved three 10-inch pumps out of this pool of equipment, according to City Engineer Robert J. Bollant. The city also has the services, for the duration of the emergency, of William Pearson, a St. Paul district engineering staff member. Pearson is acting as advisory officer for maintenance of corps - constructed permanent dikes and for placement and maintenance of temporary dikes.

Despite Cold, Cover Leaving

Despite the recent period of unseasonably chill weather Winona's snow cover has been reduced by nearly half in the past week.

Today's official measurement was 4 inches, compared with a depth of 7½ inches on the ground a week ago.

THE PAST four weeks have seen the snow accumulation reduced steadily from a mid-February depth of about 19 inches. The snow has continued to dwindle despite comparatively low daytime temperatures which have been holding below, or only slightly above, the freezing mark.

Tuesday's afternoon high was only 24 and the mercury dropped to an overnight low of 3 this morning.

Colder than normal temperatures can be expected to continue here for the remainder of the week.

THE EXTENDED forecast calls for temperatures to average 6 to 12 degrees below the normal high and low of 39 and 21 from Thursday through Monday.

Precipitation during this period may amount to between one and two-tenths of an inch in melted snow falling mostly during the weekend.

Under fair skies the mercury this morning rose to a noon reading of 26. A low of 5 to 15 is predicted for tonight and a high of 24-32 Thursday.

Temperatures Friday again will be a little below normal.

LATER TODAY skies were expected to become partly cloudy to cloudy, bringing the chance of some very light snow tonight and Thursday.

Little, if any, precipitation is expected Friday.

Damage $500 In Collision

One accident was investigated by police Tuesday resulting in $500 property damage. There were no injuries.

At 8:40 a.m., a westbound vehicle driven by Richard M. Zywicki, 515 E. 3rd St., struck a parked car owned by Ronald Robertson, 68 Fairfax St., on West 2nd Street about 350 feet east of Huff Street.

Damage was estimated at $300 to the front of Zywicki's 1963 model sedan and $200 to the rear of the Robertson car, a 1961 model.

Rusk Reports 'Nuclear Beast' Must Stay Caged

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday night the primary goal of the human race is "to keep that nuclear beast in its cage."

Rusk said Americans should remember the lessons learned from World War II, adding, "there will be no lessons to be drawn from World War III."

Rusk spoke before 3,000 persons at Denison University's Owens-Corning lecture series.

About 30 young demonstrators carrying signs gathered in front of the Denison field house before Rusk's arrival. At the beginning of his speech he jokingly thanked them for trying "to make me feel at home."

Rusk warned against isolationism and appeasement. He said caution should be used in changing policy.

"If the idea of collective security is not the answer, find a better one," he said. "But let's not stumble on a worse one."

Gilliam to Continue Resistance

By AL DAVIS

Daily News Staff Writer

A group of about 150 — mostly students and faculty members — crowded the Cardinal Room at St. Mary's College Tuesday evening for the first public appearance of a 24-year-old Winona man who was released just last week from Sandstone Federal Prison after serving an 18-month term for refusing induction into the U.S. Army.

Robert Gilliam, son of Mrs. James O'Laughlin, Gilmore Valley, spoke on "Resistance as a Life Style," a rather unfortunate title because his presentation was anything but "flippant" and insincere.

EXPLAINING that he was "still in a mild state of shock" due to his release from prison just eight days ago, Gilliam told his audience something of his background and the events leading up to his imprisonment as a draft resister.

While still a student at St. Mary's in 1965, he said, he worked briefly for the Freedom Democratic Party in Mississippi and spent 15 days in a Jackson jail for "parading without a permit."

After graduating from St. Mary's in 1966 with a degree in theology, Gilliam joined the editorial staff of the Catholic Worker in New York City. He described the Catholic Worker movement as a "radical Christian socialist" lay organization which has never been officially sanctioned by the Catholic Church. The movement was founded in 1933 by Dorothy Day and Peter Maurin, he said.

IN SEPTEMBER 1966, Gilliam said, he returned his draft card to his local board when he came to a decision to totally reject the concept of war and support of war in "every possible way." In November of that year he refused to report for an Army physical examination and in December he refused induction.

Several months of legal action by the government followed and in August 1967 he was tried and convicted in St. Paul Federal Court and given a two-year prison term. He served 10½ months and was released on "good behavior."

Gilliam said he refused classification as a conscientious objector (to which he was entitled) and alternative service because this action would be "cooperation" with the war-making establishment and that he did not and does not recognize their authority over him. He refuses, he said, "to carry their cards of slavery in my back pocket."

HE TOLD of being reclassified by his local draft board while in prison and his return of the card and said that this would be his action for all future reclassifications. When asked why he didn't merely "throw away" the card instead of making an issue and calling attention to his action, Gilliam said he wished to remain "open" and above board in his opposition to the system.

Gilliam said he was courting additional trouble with the government because the whole process could be gone through again, i.e., the order to report for a physical, induction, court action, etc. He said convicted draft resisters are the only type of felon who are being accepted by the armed forces.

Gilliam denied that the Vietnam war was the basis for his decision. He said he opposes violence in any form and doubts that he would have served in World War II with his present beliefs. He did say, however, that if ordered to report for induction at age 18, "I probably would have served."

WHEN ASKED of his concept of "patriotism," Gilliam said he had this feeling only for "this valley" where he was born and raised.

The audience was basically friendly and when one bearded youth asked "what will happen to all the generals" if war is eliminated, Gilliam's reply that "even generals can be retrained," was met with gales of laughter. When asked how his ex-convict status would affect his future job outlook, another burst of hilarity greeted his answer that he was no longer eligible to "become an FBI agent or the president of a corporation."

Most of the questions and the answers were in a serious vein, however, and Gilliam said he hoped to spend his life working in "creative, non-violent social projects." He will continue, he said, to be "open" in his non-cooperation with the draft and will "in some way" refuse to pay taxes which supports a "war machine."

Gilliam termed U.S. action in Vietnam as "invalid and stupid" and attributed the government's policy to "anti-communist paranoia" brought on by "an irrational fear of China."

WHEN ASKED of his opinion of current student unrest across the nation, he termed the "so-called 'New Left' ridiculous." "These people term themselves the 'new vanguard' of social justice so they run around throwing stink bombs in classrooms," he said.

Prison life, he termed "incredibly empty" and "a drag." When asked if draft resisters were "segregated" from the other felons he said not. "The government is deathly afraid of the term 'political prisoner' and nothing is done to separate the men."

He said draft resisters received "minor harassment" from some of the prison guards but not from the other prisoners.

Gilliam said his present plans are indefinite but he would continue to speak to groups when asked. He does definitely advocate, he said, draft age youths to follow his example in resisting military service but emphasized that it must be an "individual decision."

FOLLOWING Gilliam's talk, a short film, which was made by the British Broadcasting Corporation in 1967, was shown depicting the events leading up to his conviction on the draft charge.

Gilliam's appearance was sponsored by the College Coalition: Fellowship of Reconciliation, Greg Gault, a senior student from Morton Grove, Ill., introduced the speaker and served as moderator for the questions.

Katie Hepburn Has Big Secret

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "R-r-rally now!"—to quote Katharine Hepburn.

If I could get Katie's ear, I would snap "R-r-rally now!" to her. In her passion for privacy, she's wrecking me.

She won't say yes, no or even maybe, to strong London rumors that there may be "a wedding of intellectuals" starring her and a gifted screen writer.

"Oh, why did I ever become a gossip writer anyway?" I mumbled after about 3 maddeningly frustrating days of trying to query Katie whom I love as we all do.

Her secretary, Miss Wilburne, is very nice. "Miss Hepburn says, 'I never issue statements to the press.'"

We say we don't want a statement, just yes or no, is she gonna marry the guy?

The London Daily Mail gets in it. Peter Shaw, her agent, Angela Lansbury's husband, talks to her: "Miss Hepburn says 'I never issue affirmations or denials to the press. I have not done so for 50 years.'"

My hair is turning gray due to Katie's stony silence. We try to find the writer fellow, who's 50 to Katie's 59. Katie's friends here say it's not to be a marriage but just an "emotional friendship."

We find him in the midwest visiting his father. A local reporter says, "The scuttlebutt is you're having a romance with Katharine Hepburn."

"WHO ASKED you to speak to me?" he says. "Earl Wilson," the reporter says.

The scuttlebutt is right but I never issue statements to the press," he says, echoing Katie, "and tell Mr. Wilson to get lost."

I wish I could. Somewhere nice and remote so that when the bosses call and say "What about Katie Hepburn?" I can say, "I never issue statements to the press."

400 snowmobile owners. Another 1,000 people watched the show. Gov. LeVander is pushing through the legislature a new law prohibiting hunts of this type. The snowmobile has also been used to kill deer. Locally, fox have been killed by snowmobile hunters. (AP Photofax)

License Boost Coming
Here is the comment of the Minnesota Emergency Conservation Committee, headed by Charley Horn, on the bill now pending before committees of the legislature to increase fishing and hunting fees.

The cost of fishing and hunting license fees will be almost doubled if the bill approved by the Senate Game and Fish Committee last week is given legislative approval. Under terms of the bill the measure would raise an individual fishing license fee from the current $2.25 to $4 and a husband-wife combination from $2.75 to $6. Small-game hunting licenses would be raised from $2 to $4 and deer from $5 to $7.50. The license for moose which is on the protected list would be set at $50.

The Emergency Committee supports an upping of the cost of license fees, but the bill now under consideration, we believe, will defeat the intended purposes of increasing Conservation Department revenues. The old law of diminishing returns, we suggest, may deny the Department more money for game and fish conservation purposes.

Conjure if you can the number of nimrods who will relish the idea of paying $5 to help run down the few remaining Ring-necks in the state; and the duck hunters who will be willing to pay a small-game license fee of $5 plus the cost of a federal duck stamp for $3 which may be increased to $5 if Congress approves an increase of $2 now under consideration.

How many duck hunters will be willing to pay $10 for a couple of days of duck hunting for a daily limit of two to three ducks?

The doubling of the individual fishing license fee has more logic and should receive strong support, but we do not believe that the $6 cost of a husband-wife license fee will win any popularity contest.

The proposal to set up a $3.5 million Contingency Fund in the state's General Revenue Fund, to permit the Conservation Department to draw from when closed seasons on a game species denies the department sufficient revenue, should have statewide support. It is an important game conservation measure.

It might be a wise move on the part of the legislature to come down a step or two on the proposed license fees increase and grant the Conservation Department a half-million dollars of the Contingency Fund for the next biennium, in lieu of lower license increases.

The Weekend Fish Tale
Bud Safranek Winona sportsman takes honors for the top fish story of the week. He was "jigging" for crappies on a nearby slough Sunday with a two-pound invisible line and one of Emil Liers' patented glass bugs. Crappie fishing was good. In fact he had caught two fair-sized bass.

Suddenly he got a powerful pull on the line. Something big had been hooked. The ice was 30 inches thick. Bud worked the mystery object to the hole and started to lift it out wishing he had a six-pound line instead of the "invisible" one.

Of course the line broke too far down to reach the fish by hand. However, the fish, a big bass, kept coming toward the surface. Bud could see its head and it filled the hole. When it got near the top Bud reached down and lifted it out by the eyes.

"You know," he said "it was so big that it could not turn around in the hole. The only way it could go was up." It tipped the scales at four and one-half pounds.

ICE FISHING —

Thank Goodness It's Nearly Over

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin anglers are getting in their last licks these days in an ice fishing season that never was.

Rarely in recent years have state sportsmen endured a season that started so poorly, continued so miserably. The promise that winter fishing always ways holds was there briefly when the first cold weather came. But it faded quickly when the big snows arrived and there was no momentum after that.

There were bright spots, to be sure. Shawano Lake produced some northern pike as it always does. Perch flopped on the ice of Pelican Lake, Lac Vieux Desert, Pickerel and certain other bodies of water. Down south in Washington, Waushara, Dane and Columbia counties, they caught some bluegills. Trout bit in the waters off Door County. Lake Winnebago's walleyes and sauger were good for a time but even there the fishing soon faded.

Now little time remains for men who like to do their fishing through a hole in the ice. The nights are cold but the days are warm enough to send hints all around that spring breakup is near. The end, when it comes, will be merciful.

So there is little for anglers to do these days but wait for the opening of the state's general fishing season now less than two months away. And, with the problems they have had with winter fishing, anglers can't help but ponder what the future will bring.

Heavy layers of snow remain in most areas of the far north. If the spring breakup comes quickly, if rainfall is abundant, trout streams will shoot over their banks. Water will turn muddy and trout fishermen will be in trouble.

Movie Star Mills Suffers Concussion When Boat Capsizes

DINGLE, Ireland (AP) — Movie star John Mills, 61, suffered a slight concussion when a small boat capsized in the Atlantic surf trapping Mills and actor Trevor Howard underneath. Howard was not hurt.

The two men were filming an as-yet-untitled movie on location Tuesday when the accident occurred. Mills' wife, playwright Mary Hayley Bell described what happened:

"Apparently John and Trevor were standing waist deep in the water alongside the boat when a big wave came along and turned it over."

"John was hit by the end of the boat. They had to pull him out by the hair. Trevor was caught under the boat too but he was unscathed."

She said Mills "feels terribly bruised and he has a big bump on his head. He won't be filming for a couple of days."

Must Eliminate Tax Benefits for Privileged

RIVER FALLS, Wis. (AP) — The Republican-controlled state legislature should eliminate tax benefits for the privileged before asking the average wage-earner to pay more, Wisconsin's Democratic chairman said Tuesday.

"We have to close inequitable tax loopholes before we ask the average taxpayer to foot more of the bill," chairman James Wimmer told the opening session of the 12th annual Grass Roots Politics Conference at River Falls State University.

THE LEGISLATURE, at the request of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, is considering sales tax and income tax increases to meet rising budget costs and an anticipated deficit. The Republican governors' income tax proposals, Wimmer said, are "regressive" because they hit at the average taxpayer while ignoring those who earn $14,000 or more a year.

Knowles doesn't want industry to leave the state, just people, Wimmer said. He said Republican legislators may have to raise taxes because of poor administrative operations under Knowles.

He repeated Democratic charges that Knowles was aware of the approach of a deficit, but that he kept the fact concealed until re-elected in November.

"If the Republicans are not guilty of misleading the people, they are certainly guilty of incompetence," Wimmer said. "Why didn't the Knowles administration know in advance about its own fiscal mess?" he asked.

WIMMER cited what he called three unfair errors in the GOP attitude toward increased taxation.

Besides being "regressive," he said, the proposed tax levels are too high and are not being accompanied by serious efforts for tax reform.

One shortcoming of the state's tax set-up, he said, is that suburban dwellers live off the benefits of the central city, but contribute little in the way of taxes to help support the city.

Even the suburban property tax, he said, goes to the state and back to the suburbs with no beneficial distribution to neighboring communities while the suburbs "are living off the cream of the cities."

An easy method of handling the problem, Wimmer said, would be to levy a municipal income tax to collect from persons working in a city and living elsewhere.

Mitchell Urges Joint Effort to Combat Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says the "smug suburbanite who remains unwilling to help the core city solve its crime problem will soon find the problem on his own doorstep."

Addressing the Federal Bar Association, Mitchell also criticized parochially minded state officials for not helping the cities fight crime.

He urged a coordinated effort by federal, state and local authorities to fight crime. Mitchell noted that 70 per cent of the nation's population is urban, and the cities are starved for money and help from state governments.

Citing a lack of effective communist relations programs in many cities, the attorney general said city officials are to blame for deteriorating police-community relations.

Wallace Says Party 'Will Carry On'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace says his third party movement "has already vastly changed the direction of American government" and will carry on.

The former Alabama governor, in a news letter to supporters Monday, did not disclose whether he has any immediate plans to seek office, but said: "We shall continue to state our position on the issues."

FOR HIGHWAYS

Asks Borrowing Be Considered

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles is asking legislators to consider borrowing money on highway projects intended for the 1970s so funds would be available sooner for bridge construction.

The rather complicated method of financing bridge work is the key to a measure introduced Tuesday by Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton. It reflects requests made by Knowles last year.

THE BILL concerns relocation of Highway 15 from Milwaukee to Beloit. The work is to begin in 1976, using about $48 million obtained through bond issues.

William Redmond, the State Highway Commission chairman, said the bond issue funds would be invested ahead of schedule, and about $6 million taken aside annually to improve the bridges on which Knowles has said work is needed as soon as possible.

Redmond also said it was virtually irrelevant whether to use the Highway 15 program or a proposed Highway 53 improvement between Eau Claire and Superior to pave the foundation for the bridge program.

Froehlich said the measure reflects an easier method of bridge financing. An undesirable alternative, he said, would be to get involved in separate bond issues for individual bridges.

THE SPEAKER acknowledged that the bill could open the doors to a flood of requests from legislators for special consideration of home-town highway projects. Efforts will be made to keep it under control, he said.

Knowles said last year state engineers feel Wisconsin has more than 70 bridges on which work is necessary.

Bridge needs in the next few years, he predicted, could cost $124 million, but would have help from federal assistance.

Senate Bill May Have Political Motive

ELIMINATION of the office of lieutenant governor has been proposed in a bill introduced recently in the state Senate. Up to now it doesn't seem to have any significant support and it is said not to disturb unduly the incumbent, Lt. Gov. James Goetz.

Sen. Jack Davies, Minneapolis, author of the bill, says there's not enough work to justify the expense of a lieutenant governor. Under the constitution his main job is presiding over the Senate, a task that some say could be delegated to an individual elected from that body's membership.

There are, of course, many things a lieutenant governor can do to assist the governor. (This, incidentally, is one of the main reasons for advocating their election as a team.) This year, for example, Lt. Gov. Goetz was assigned to head up the drive for passage of Gov. Harold LeVander's far-reaching plan to reorganize state government into more efficient forms.

The governor, burdened with problems that multiply each year, should be able to delegate some of his high-priority tasks without the sacrifice of prestige and influence that would occur were they passed on to lower-echelon officials. It's doubtful that an administrative staffer could muster the public support for such worthwhile projects as governmental reorganization that can be supplied by the state's second-highest elected executive officer.

THERE MAY BE A more subtle motive behind Sen. Davies' bill. As a Liberal-Democrat, it cannot have escaped his notice that Lt. Gov. Goetz is highly active in the state political scene. His star is rising at a time when those of an older generation of DFL leaders are dimming. Through this bill the DFL may be trying to construct some sort of political deadfall for the attractive and thoroughly dangerous (in DFL eyes) young Republican lieutenant governor now hard at work building a strong public image and a fund of political IOUs that can be cashed in 1970 or thereafter.

Spring Floods Could Speed Planning

(Eau Claire Leader)

SPRING FLOODS this year may have the dubious merit of establishing high water marks with which shoreline and floodplain regulations can be correlated.

When the Region Five advisory board of the Department of Natural Resources met at Barron its members were advised that a paint mark at the high water point on county and township bridges this spring will prove to be very valuable later on.

Under the new state laws regulating construction along lakeshores and river banks the flood areas must be mapped out and in many cases extensive research and personal interviews are necessary in order to establish the lines. If high water spots are marked with paint this spring that particular study would be greatly simplified.

ADVISORY board members are planning to ask county administrators to arrange for flood peak to be recorded. But nobody's going to object if continued thaws eliminate the record high water for which northwestern Wisconsin communities are so carefully preparing.

Of course, there will be no charge."

The lady owner was apprehensive. "Just what's the defect?" she wanted to know.

"It's really trivial," soothed the dealer, "Just that the steering wheel comes off once in a while if you're making a turn at over 15 miles an hour."

A WORD EDGEWISE

'Instant History' Brings Confusion

By JOHN P. ROCHE

March, 1968, was a strange month in Washington. Obviously, there were great things afoot with regard to Vietnam. Recently both Newsweek and the New York Times have attempted to reconstruct the course of events that led to President Johnson's curb-the-bombing speech on March 31. There is a good deal of hard data in both analyses, but they suffer from a key weakness. Lyndon Johnson is in the shadows and his principal aides are apparently engaged in a tug of war for his "mind." In addition, Dean Rusk is billed as a marginal figure whose role was essentially negative — a hawk as the story goes, stubbornly committed to bombing while the "good guys" centered in the Department of Defense succeeded in converting Secretary Clark Clifford to a dove position.

As is usually the case, the primary sources of these stories were those men who saw themselves as the formulators of the new policy. I believe Clifford to be one of the most intelligent men I have ever met and his part in the policy shift should not be underestimated. At the same time it should be realized that the basic components of Johnson's March 31 position were in the works before Clifford became Secretary and, oddly enough in terms of Vietnamese mythology, the man who proposed them was Secretary of State Rusk.

THERE IS A GOOD deal of confusion about the problem of bombing North Vietnam. This arose because the initial justification (that Hanoi would decide to negotiate to avert punishment) had simply not paid off. However, bombing was clearly valuable in tactical support of troops in I Corps, who were subjected to hit-and-run invasion through the DMZ. Bombing the panhandle of North Vietnam was a form of mobile artillery.

Thus if one looked at the map of North Vietnam in military terms, he could distinguish between bombing airfields and factories near Hanoi and bombing North Vietnamese troops and supply lines near the DMZ — distinguish, that is, between strategic and tactical air power. (The Air Force would argue that the line is not that neat. In theory it is right, but experience had shown that strategic bombing of the North had not seriously affected the enemy's capabilities. World War II type saturation bombing might have made a difference, but this would have violated the ground rules of limited war and was never seriously considered by the President.)

Naturally, there were numerous maps of North Vietnam around Washington with lines drawn on them — the lines being efforts to distinguish the strategic zone from the tactical. For our purposes the important one was the property of Dean Rusk, who on March 2, 1968, proposed to the President that we offer to stop bombing north of the 20th Parallel to encourage negotiations. The President's response was "get on your horses" and bring in a detailed plan. On March 3, Rusk returned with details and Johnson told him to present his scenario to Gen. Westmoreland and Ambassador Bunker in Saigon and to our Allies.

MEANWHILE, IN A different track, the President was moving forward with plans for a major speech on Vietnam and the announcement of his non-candidacy. This involved constant meetings, numerous drafts, and an endless flurry of rumors. On March 15, UN Ambassador Goldberg privately recommended that all bombing of the North be ended and his letter was given inch-by-inch analysis by Johnson in a long personal discussion on March 20. It was also brought to the principal officials in State and Defense and was strongly opposed by both Secretary Clifford and the Joint Chiefs.

Rusk, who I suspect sometimes kept secrets from himself, apparently had not briefed his staff on his proposal and on the outcome of his meeting with the President on March 3. He took off for the Pacific to handle the briefing of our Allies and was replaced in the conferences by Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach, a strong advocate of a complete bombing halt. The groups involved in preparing the President's speech went on joyously to reinvent the wheel. The core of the speech was precisely the 20th Parallel proposal that Johnson and Rusk had worked out on March 3.

What this highlights is the danger of writing "instant history." The Johnson-Rusk relationship was a crucial factor in forming policy decisions, but the two men shared a passion for secrecy. This was understandable in terms of the leakage that occurs in the Olympian levels of government, but it makes it almost impossible for historians to do an adequate job until the Johnson files are open.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Experts Feel Nixon Neglected Vietnam Duty

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—Chief tragedy regarding the Paris peace talks and the recent bombing of Saigon is that President Nixon may have missed the boat regarding an early peace in Southeast Asia.

Both career diplomats and Pentagon strategists who have no ax to grind concerning Democratic or Republican politics feel that Nixon has been too cautious, too bogged down with paperwork, too slow to move and too much concerned with Europe rather than the theater of war where an average of 200 American boys have been killed every week, with the number rising to 453 in the past week.

As a result, he has ignored for seven weeks the opportunity to carry on private talks with the North Vietnamese in Paris.

THIS WAS AN extremely important period, not merely because 200 American lives were being lost weekly, but because the North Vietnamese may have interpreted Nixon's failure to talk as a rebuff, and started the attacks on Saigon as their answer to a new President who has been known as a hawk.

Cyrus Vance, the former under secretary of defense who served as No. 2 negotiator with Ambassador Averell Harriman in Paris, has recently returned to Washington and has given senators important inside information regarding Vietnam.

Vance had remained in Paris at the request of President Nixon in order to help the peace talks get off to a good start under the new administration. Vance is a New York lawyer and non-political government official, who, after he retired from the Pentagon, came back to serve in various emergency crises, including the Detroit race riots.

In Paris, despite an ailing back, Vance slept in his office during one crucial period last October because of the Washington-Paris time difference, in order to be on the telephone with Washington during the early morning hours from 3 a.m. on — which was about the time the State Department got busy with Vietnam problems.

Vance pays tribute to Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Harriman's successor, as an able, dedicated diplomat. He has reported that, though Lodge has been a hawk in the past, and a close friend of the military leaders of South Vietnam, this may make him a more effective negotiator. Lodge is being very careful to be nonpartisan, neither a hawk nor a dove, and is anxious to carry out instructions from Washington right down the line.

The trouble is, however, that Lodge has received no instructions from President Nixon regarding the all-important question of private talks with the North Vietnamese. Lodge and Nixon conferred in Paris last week but, so far as can be ascertained, no green light was given Lodge even then to go ahead with private peace talks with the North Vietnamese.

IT HAD BEEN agreed last November between the North Vietnamese and the United States negotiating team of Harriman and Vance that this was the most fruitful way to proceed. Some progress was made in December by private talks on the controversial type of table to be used in Paris.

Since that time, however, there have been no private talks and no progress whatsoever, for two reasons:

1. The South Vietnamese were stalling until Jan. 20 when their friend, Richard Nixon, hitherto a hawk, would become President.

2. Since Jan. 20, Ambassador Lodge has had no instructions from the new President to proceed with private talks.

Meanwhile, American career diplomats point out that the North Vietnamese are probably escalating the war in order to demonstrate their strength to a new and hawkish President who has not accepted their willingness to talk privately.

The importance of private talks cannot be overestimated, according to experienced diplomats who have sat in on them. During the three-month period last fall when the United States and North Vietnamese were sparring in Paris, there were about 20 coffee breaks when American and North Vietnam delegates talked off the record about the future.

The North Vietnamese showed themselves as frank about obtaining U.S. help during the reconstruction days which lay ahead once peace was established. They took seriously President Johnson's promise of cooperation in rebuilding their country, and his idea of a Mekong Delta "Tennessee Valley Authority" to develop irrigation, reclamation and economic cooperation between North and South Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos and Thailand. They hoped to secure the "miracle" rice developed by the United States after peace was established, and to have the benefit of U.S. technical assistance.

HARRIMAN and Vance reported to Washington that the North Vietnamese are a proud people who want to maintain an independent country under neither Chinese nor Russian domination. They also considered that they had won the war, inasmuch as they had withstood the bombing of the powerful United States, which was more than Hitler and Mussolini were able to do.

It is only in this type of private talks, Vance has reported, that any progress toward peace can be made. Yet Ambassador Lodge has received no authority from President Nixon to proceed. Meanwhile, American lives have been lost at the rate of 200 a week, and the fighting has escalated to a point where tempers are heating up dangerously on both sides.

THE WIZARD OF ID

ON THE RIGHT

Restiveness On the Right

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

The American Conservative Union has come out and said bluntly what is on the minds of those Americans who made possible the election of Richard Nixon. That Mr. Nixon's performance, so far, is not altogether reassuring.

There are the complaints which are not altogether fair. It is much too early to know whether Mr. Nixon will freeze under the pressure of communist salients, in Vietnam, at the negotiating table in Paris, in Berlin. Too early to conclude gloomily that Richard Nixon will do nothing to help the community to survive the intimidations of organized labor unions; too early, even, to know whether he will engage the problem of inflation other than rhetorically.

But on one point Mr. Nixon appears to have staked out a position, and it is, in the judgment of most of those Americans who reject ideology, the wrong one. It is the position of forced integration.

IT DOES NOT seem to occur to anyone to remark that the exodus of white middle class families from the cities, the rate of which has trebled in the past three years, is above all things an indication of the lengths to which people intend to go in order to avoid certain conditions. It is utterly useless to moralize about it: The people who dominate America have written their position on the matter of forcible integration with their feet. The father who is willing to leave the city where he grew up, where he holds down his job, to endure the expenses of moving, of reacclimation, of buying or renting a new home, is expressing himself about as directly as anyone can. To criticize him for being uncharitable, let alone to attempt to devise laws that would rob him of the economic freedom to make his decision, is as useless as to criticize politicians for seeking to please their constituents; or to attempt to devise laws which would force politicians to speak the truth.

The truth is that the overwhelming majority of the white population of America associates with white people, even the blacks associate with blacks, in their homes, at schools, and, though to a lesser extent, professionally. We can and should deplore the obstinacy of these social conventions.

But to attempt to enact and implement laws that forbid these natural associations — as distinguished from altogether desirable laws which attempt to bring advantages to the disadvantaged — is foolish, and bound to bring about consequences everyone deplures. For instance the migration of whites from the cities; the widespread rejection of the law, as for instance by the southern schools; the crystallization of hypocrisy, as for instance by the white population of Washington, D.C., which by day writes laws forbidding segregation and by night returns to its segregated quarters; the rise of resentful black extremism.

ROBERT FINCH is, from all appearances, a child of the old liberalism, which reasoned ("rationalism," Professor Oakeshott observes, "is making politics like the crow flies") that because separation of the races was morally wrong, therefore it should be forbidden by law. One would think that the 15 years that have passed since Brown vs. Board of Education would have convinced us that although it is no less wrong, any government that seeks to end it by force majeure is going to a) make matters worse, and b) impale itself on its abstractions.

We cannot, once again, know for sure whether Mr. Finch is going to return us to the bayonet-point integration of the post-Warren era. But he and Mr. Nixon appear to be quite blunt on the matter of applying Title VI of the Civil Rights Act which would deny federal funds to school districts which fail to integrate at the speed required by the relevant court. Now pledged to law and order, the Nixon Administration could hardly ignore a national statute. But if the strategy was to enforce the law so as to reveal the law's shortcomings, then Mr. Finch would hardly have brought to his side as Commissioner of Education Dr. James Allen of

How to Change Doctors

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you consider an ethical way to change doctors? — T. O.

This isn't a matter of ethics. Rather, it is a matter of tact and diplomacy.

For example, if you want a doctor whose office is nearer to your home, there's no reason you can't tell your doctor so and ask him to refer you to one in a suitable location.

Or, as is sometimes the case, if you would prefer to go to a certain hospital in case of need, you could reasonably ask to be referred to a physician who is on the staff of that hospital.

But if you are simply dissatisfied with a physician and don't care to give him a reason for changing, all you have to do is stop going to him and make an appointment with the new doctor.

Patients change doctors right along without ceremony. Some, in fact, change too often and don't give themselves or the doctor the benefit of a good relationship.

As to going to two doctors at the same time, without their knowledge, don't do it. It doesn't hurt the doctors, but it can hurt you, because you might be getting medication from both of them. I've known this to happen, with unfortunate results.

The above, of course, does not apply to instances in which your regular physician refers you to a specialist. In that case the doctors know about it and can guard against double medication or conflicting medication or therapy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that high potency vitamin B-6 with other vitamins, calcium, etc., has been used with good success on patients with different kinds of arthritis. Can you enlighten me on this? — Mrs. A. A.

There have been claims made for all sorts of "arthritis treatments" but I know of no evidence to indicate that vitamins are of any help — unless, of course, the patient happens to be deficient in vitamins to start with.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I thought Lanoxin was a new name for digitalis but my druggist says it is not. My doctor calls it digitalis and I take it to prevent my heart from beating a little too fast. M. F.

Quite likely your druggist meant that it is not a new form of digitalis rather than it is not digitalis. For, you see, it is digitalis, which is available in different forms for different purposes. They can vary, for example, in the speed with which they are used by the system. The doctor may call for the type he wants for you, by its trade name, although it is still digitalis.

Another commonly used form of digitalis is Digoxin, about which another reader asked. The answer is the same: it is digitalis but prepared in a different way and with somewhat different properties, although the basic action is, of course, the same.

New York, who did perhaps more than anyone to ignite frustrations, resentments, bitterness, interracial hostility and, finally, the great exodus we all bemoan.

Want to Put 'Marryin' Sams' Out of Work

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The president of the Nevada Council of Churches is backing a bill that would permit couples to marry by signing a piece of paper.

Don Winne, the council president, and other clergymen have testified before the Nevada Legislature in support of "paper" weddings. They say that doing away with a required wedding ceremony would put a quick end to a $60-million-a-year business that features "Marryin' Sams" and neon signs advertising 24-hour-a-day "wedding chapels" where credit cards can be used to pay for the ceremony, flowers and photographs.

Nonclergymen conducting weddings frequently make as much as $100,000 a year, testimony at legislative hearings shows.

There is no waiting period for a marriage license in Nevada and an attraction for out-of-state couples.

Of 90,000 weddings in Nevada last year, 5,000 were performed in churches, claims George Flint, vice president of the State Wedding Chapel Association.

"I wonder if this (bill) could reflect jealousy on the part of the clergy at their inability to attract more of these weddings for themselves and their churches?" he asks.

"Pastors are not in the marrying business nor do they desire to be," six ministers said in a statement to a legislative committee.

Winne testified he supports the bill because "we want judges to do the work of judges and the clergy to do the work of the clergy."

The committee recommended that couples be permitted to marry without civil or religious ceremonies, saying this would eliminate "abuses which have grown up in Nevada in connection with justices of the peace and 'wedding chapels' alike."

Witnesses told of couples being interrupted so the judges, called "Marryin' Sams," could go out and perform marriages.

Says 'Smoldering' Viruses May Be Cause of Illnesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists are working on a theory that "smoldering" viruses left over from some common infection early in life may be the cause of a wide variety of serious ills.

The National Institutes of Health revealed the breakthrough in virus research Monday.

Scientists said that after four years of research they found that a virus suspected to be the cause of a rare and mysterious brain disease was identical with the virus long known to cause common measles.

They explained the finding apparently means the brain disease—subacute sclerosing panencephalitis—may be caused in certain people by a slowly acting virus left over from a cured measles infection of long ago.

The scientists are hopeful the breakthrough may shed some light on the causes of illnesses ranging from some forms of cancer to multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's disease.

Mexican Art On Display

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — An exhibition of Mexican colonial art, which has taken two years to plan and assemble, will be shown in four U.S. museums and Mexico.

The collection of paintings, sculpture and examples of architecture went on display Dec. 8 at the University of New Mexico Art Museum.

Gonzalo Obregon, who formerly was in charge of colonial art at the Instituto Nacional de Antropologia y Historia, said the collection is the most important exhibition of colonial Mexican art to leave that country in several years.

Included in the collection of 16th to 18th century art are 40 paintings, seven sculptures and 30 photographs showing details of Mexican architecture during the period.

The exhibition also will be shown in 1969 at the Taylor Museum, Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 2-March 2; University of Texas at Austin, March 16-April 20, and the Los Angeles

Ray to Live With Negro Police Killer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray will live for the next six weeks or so in a prison cell nine feet long and six feet wide, with the Negro slayer of a policeman as his nearest neighbor.

The confessed assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will occupy the cell—No. 4 in the state penitentiary's maximum security section — while undergoing orientation and classification.

Then, Warden Lake said Tuesday, Ray will be assigned a prison job and treated as far as possible like other inmates while serving time against his 99-year sentence. It will be 30 years before Ray, 41, can be eligible for parole.

In the occupied cell closest to him is William Garvin Allen, a Black Power advocate convicted earlier this year of killing a member of the Nashville police force.

Allen said he had no special feeling about his proximity to Ray.

"As far as I am concerned," said Allen, "society is what killed King."

Living in the security section will mark a distinct change from the fishbowl existence Ray led in the Memphis jail while he waited eight months for disposition of his case.

Tuesday night, about 12 hours after Ray's departure for Nashville in a caravan of eight state highway patrol cars, Shelby County Sheriff William Morris Jr. gave newsmen their first look at what "maximum security" had meant in Memphis.

Morris led newsmen through the six steel doors which had stood between Ray and the "outside." The doors led to a 14 by 35 foot third-floor cellblock, painted black and green.

Ray had never been alone in that room. From the time he arrived after being returned from London last summer, he had shared the quarters with shifts of two guards.

The lights were always on. Municipal Museum, July 1-Aug. 2. During September and October of 1969, it will be shown at the Museo de Arte y Historia, Juarez, Mexico.

Day Care Center Plans Developing

The proposed Winona Day Care Center plans to be in operation by Sept. 1, members of the Phelps School Parent-Teacher Association were told Tuesday night.

Mrs. Roger Zehren and Mrs. James Dresser, members of the community education committee for day care, told the group plans are being made to enroll 80 children in the program by that time.

STRESSING the need for such a facility, Mrs. Dresser quoted figures released by the state employment agency showing that Winona's work force of 12,000 includes 4,800 women — many of whom have preschool children and would be eligible for day care.

Day Care is designed primarily to aid working and student mothers in crisis situations.

"We are hoping to bring this long overdue licensed day care center to the community for an average per-child cost of $15 a week," said Mrs. Zehren. Both she and Mrs. Dresser pointed out that applicants will be interviewed by the Winona Day Care director, Mrs. Marvin Gunderson. Fixed costs then will be established by the day care board.

Quoting a survey made by Erwin Bublitz, a Winona working toward his doctorate at the University of Minnesota, Mrs. Zehren stated that 60 percent of the families interviewed by Bublitz are willing to pay an average of $15 weekly for day care services. She pointed out that this sum also coincides with what families are now paying for baby-sitting.

"OF COURSE, day care would be much more enriching for the child," she said, outlining regulations established by the state of Minnesota governing such facilities.

Although a site has not yet been chosen, the PTA was told that the state consultant in charge of standards and licensing, Mrs. Marney Smith, St. Paul, is in the city today. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Gunderson will tour several sites proposed by the building committee and then meet with the day care board for dinner at the Holiday Inn tonight.

IN OTHER PTA business, Syl Anderson was elected president for the 1969-70 year. Other officers: Charles Earp, vice president; Mrs. Anderson, secretary, and Raymond Brooks, treasurer.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Richard Baylon on the state PTA convention, Mrs. Elmer Boller on the educational symposium held in Rochester and Brooks, who outlined the Phelps summer school program.

Next meeting will be held April 1. Scheduled is a music program by fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade groups from the school.

Lunch Tuesday was provided by second-grade mothers. Rose Sampson's third- and fourth-grade room had the most members in attendance.

Barkeim Elected To SWCD Board

Lowell Barkeim, Winona Rt. 1, is the apparent winner in the contest for supervisor of the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District. He will succeed Robert Wessel, Winona Rt. 1, who declined nomination to the 5-year term.

Barkeim outpolled Earle Drenkhahn Jr., Minneka, 222 to 187 in unofficial returns.

Clinton Dabelstein, Winona Rt. 3, who was unopposed on the ballot for the Burns-Homer-Pleasant district, got 279 votes. Herbert Hassinger got 16 write-in votes in Wilson township and Harvey Hoyer four in New Hartford.

Dabelstein is one of the organizers of the district and has served continuously on the board of supervisors.

LeVander Will Attend Meeting On Education

ST. PAUL (AP) — Gov. Harold LeVander and State Rep. Rodney Searle, Waseca, will attend a meeting of the Education Commission of the States Thursday and Friday at Arlington, Va.

LeVander is a member of the ECS Steering Committee, and Searle serves on a larger Minnesota committee which works with ECS.

A chief topic of discussion will be the group's program developed by the committee on assessing the progress of education. That is a national assessment to determine attainment of American education in relation to accepted goals of education.

That is an assessment of American education in relation to what educators consider accepted goals. It would require about $4 million to $5 million per year in financing—which will be sought from Congress.

Four American Fliers Return From Cambodia

BANGKOK (AP) — Four American fliers captured in Cambodia a month ago were returned to freedom today as the result of a letter from President Nixon to ruling Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.

The four men are Maj. Querin Herlik, Green Bay, Wis.; Laird Osburn, Webster, W.Va.; John Fisher, Gainesville, Fla., and Rob Fryor, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Stationed in South Vietnam, they were captured on Feb. 12 after their L19 observation plane was shot down near the border between Cambodia and South Vietnam.

The airmen were held in a Cambodian naval barracks, and Sihanouk asked President Nixon to write him a letter asking for their release. Cambodia's Khmer Press Agency said Nixon wrote the Cambodian chief of state on March 8.

The prisoners were released to the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh Tuesday and arrived in Bangkok today aboard a Burmese airline.

Says Early Test May Have Pegged Sirhan as Killer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Had Sirhan Bishara Sirhan been examined before the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, a defense psychologist says, he probably would have been spotted as a potential murderer.

And yet, Sirhan's mental capacity was so stunted that he could not form a meaningful, mature plot against the senator, Dr. Martin Schorr testified Tuesday in Sirhan's murder trial.

That point is crucial to Sirhan's defense. His lawyers hope to save him from a death sentence by convincing the jury the shooting of Kennedy was the result of a sick, obsessed mind.

Could Sirhan have acted with malice aforethought? "No," said Schorr.

Under cross-examination by prosecutor John E. Howard, the psychologist was asked whether he could have predicted Kennedy's assassination if Sirhan had been tested earlier.

"With a reasonable degree of certainty, murder is predictable," Schorr said. He added that of 100 people chosen at random, three or four would be shown by psychological tests as having the potential for murder under stress.

"Sirhan would have been one of these three or four," he said. "If I had to live with one of these three or four I would be very fearful."

"I'm not saying I could have predicted Sirhan would kill the senator," Schorr said, "but tests would have pointed to Sirhan as an odds-on favorite who would do something like this."

The 24-year-old Jordanian listened with obvious fascination as the psychologist described him as a Jekyll-Hyde personality.

"I don't think he's at all aware that the personality of the assaulter is within him at all," said Schorr.

Sirhan has said he cannot remember going to his car to get his gun or shooting the senator early in the morning of June 5 last year. He has said he has no memory of anything that happened between the time he returned to Kennedy's hotel—after drinking there earlier—to the time when people were trying to subdue him after the shooting.

"In a dissociated state, an individual will show memory gaps," Schorr testified. "An individual will remember events close up to and surrounding, but not including the act. By contrast, the individual trying to malingering or fake will characteristically remember item by item in detail right up to the actual use of the weapon.

"Adding to this concept of diminished capacity is this man's complete lack of awareness of what has been happening. He behaved like a man on a picnic," Schorr referred earlier to Sirhan's frequent smiles in the courtroom as indicative that he did not realize the gravity of his situation.

SOVIET LEAD
GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union took over the lead from the United States in the number of satellites launched during 1968, said the International Telecommunications Union. The Russians fired 74 satellites into space and the United States 56, according to ITU statistics. There were also three launches by a combined West European team.

Guerrilla Girl Can't Afford to Be Friendly

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong guerrilla girl is expected to share everything with her male counterpart except a bed.

If she does yield to temptation, and is caught, the penalty is harsh for both of them—anything from three to 10 years confinement in the bamboo cages that serve as jail cells in remote base areas.

This severe attitude to romance is being emphasized by the Viet Cong as more and more women and girls are brought into army ranks.

According to one captured top-level document, 4,000 female cadres are working with the Viet Cong. Many had "strikingly and fearlessly replaced the male sex in combat," the document added.

But one headquarters document complained: "The weak points of women are that they are credulous and cannot resist love."

Another said, "In many cases indoctrination of women of the revolutionary concept towards sex relations was not carefully considered. Guidance of the relationship between male and female was not good. This gave way to several cases of illicit love."

The Communist party hierarchy that runs the Viet Cong is motivated less by puritanism than by discipline.

"When you join the party you in effect marry it, and she is a very jealous mistress," an American analyst of the Viet Cong commented.

The communists have been preaching the "three postponements" to unmarried cadre.

Paintings From Kennedy Home Will Be Sold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen paintings hanging in the New York apartment of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy when he was assassinated have been offered for sale at the Washington Gallery of Art.

Price on the paintings is said to range from $900 to more than $6,000.

The largest, a beach scene in the south of France, hung in the master bedroom. A smaller scene, showing colorfully clad jockeys with their horses, still bears a typewritten notation from Ethel Kennedy with instructions to hang it on the wall over the bureau in one of the children's rooms.

One sailing scene shows a man at the helm of a sailboat who looks much like Robert Kennedy. The original price tag of $1,600 is still attached.

The first is to postpone falling in love. Those who cannot resist are asked to postpone getting married. If they go ahead and marry, anyway, they are asked to postpone having babies.

The party insists that it is helping women, not hindering them, by controlling their love life. Because of their romantic inclinations, "women are often not considered for various jobs and are slow in making progress," an instruction from headquarters declared.

Recent evidence from documents, defectors, and from the battlefield itself indicates that the Viet Cong are using more and more women. In the past the front-line duties of women were in mortar platoons or as bearers. Now women are employed in assault platoons and one defector said 200 women accompanied his battalion part way down the Ho Chi Minh Trail, their mission to repair roads blasted by American bombers.

EMPHASIS SHIFTS

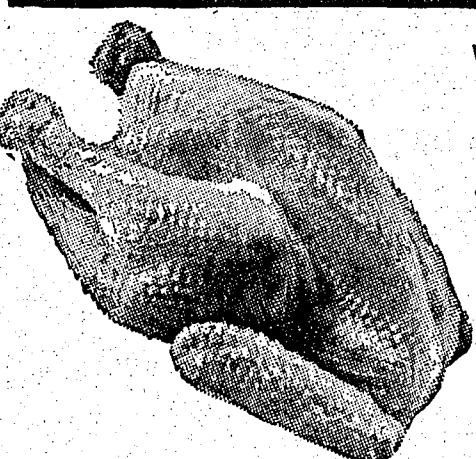

ROME (AP) — Italian movie producers have shifted their efforts from Italian western to war movies: Title of some recent and upcoming films include, "The Battle of Midway," "The Battle of Anzio," "El Alamein" and "Battle of the Sinai."

Rockefeller to Serve as 'Ears' of White House

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he will go to South America as the ears of the White House — to receive views of national leaders "on whatever subjects they wish to discuss."

Accordingly, the New York governor said, he will make no effort during a series of forthcoming trips to promote a new "Good Neighbor" policy he drafted last year when he was competing with Richard M. Nixon for the presidency.

The policy was set forth in a 3,000-word paper saying that if nominated and elected Rockefeller would propose among other things:

—Establishing a "small peace-keeping force" under the Organization of American States (OAS) "for use in disputes among members or, more importantly, in cases where elements alien to the hemisphere threaten the security of any member."

—Bringing Canada into the OAS on the ground that "our northern neighbor has a major contribution to make to Western hemisphere relations."

—Strengthening the OAS by establishing "a constituent body" made up of parliamentary representatives from the American republics.

—Establishing a Latin American common market and encouraging creation of a hemisphere free trade area.

—Opening the East Andean jungles to development and harnessing South America's "vast water potential" by creating seven huge artificial lakes with low-level dams at an estimated cost of $500 million. Rockefeller did not pinpoint the sites.

—Undertaking cooperative efforts to establish regional universities, solve urban problems and "mobilize the youth of the hemisphere for social progress."

At the time, Rockefeller voiced strong concern about deterioration of Latin American relations—the very reason that Nixon has requested him to undertake the special mission.

Rockefeller was an architect of the original "Good Neighbor" policy of the early 1940's, while serving as assistant secretary of state for American republic affairs in the Roosevelt administration.

When Rockefeller was asked whether he stood by the proposals in the campaign paper, his office responded with this statement by the governor:

"The President has asked me to go to Latin America as his emissary to listen to the leaders of the other American Republics and, on the basis of consultations with them, to make recommendations to him regarding

United States policies concerning Latin America which will best reflect our common interests.

"Since the President has specifically asked me to consult with and consider the views of the leaders of the other American Republics on whatever subjects they wish to discuss, I am undertaking the mission on that basis.

"Therefore, the proposals made in my campaign statement of July 2, 1968, will not be raised."

A spokesman said this did not mean Rockefeller was repudiating his campaign position but only that he would not seek to press those views on others.

Rockefeller told an Albany news conference Tuesday that he would begin a series of trips to Latin America shortly after the State Legislature ends its 1969 session. The legislature is aiming for adjournment by Easter.

Teller Recognizes Bandit, So He Flees

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Georgia Sousa recognized the bandit at her teller's cage at Security-Pacific National Bank. "Weren't you in here last Friday?" she asked. Replied the gunman: "No, I was at Crocker Citizen."

Then, he apparently knew he was confused and fled empty-handed. Larry R. Walton, 25, was arrested later Tuesday by friend's house and booked on suspicion of bank robbery.

Country Music Duo Decide to Break 'Up' Act

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Cohen Wilson, president of a flour company which sponsors the well known country music duo of Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs, says they are about to break up the act. They began as a team in 1948.

"I tried to hold them together, but it looks like they are splitting up," Wilson said Monday.

One of the duo's biggest recording hits was "Foggy Mountain Breakdown," written by Scruggs and used as the theme music for the movie "Bonnie and Clyde."

Wisconsin State Fair Won't Move

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin State Fair will stay in West Allis, at least for another year, thanks to a $400,000 grant approved by the State Building Commission.

But the exposition's future remains unsettled.

The commission action "virtually assures that the fair will remain in West Allis," said Assemblyman David O. Martin, R-Neenah, chairman of a commission subcommittee which has been studying proposals to move the fair site.

THE commission rejected a proposal by Douglas Welford, secretary of the department of Local Affairs and Development, to spend about $30 million to buy land and build new buildings at a different site.

It also turned down alternate proposals, including one to keep industrial exhibitions and amusement facilities at West Allis and move agricultural activities of the fair to the Dane County fairgrounds. Another rejected proposal would drop the fair as a state function.

The future of the fair has been up in the air for the last eight years and has been the subject of nine separate studies.

The commission action Monday, in effect, postponed a final decision on what to do about the exposition at least for another year. The 1969 fair is to open Aug. 8.

Martin said repairs to bring fair facilities up to standards might take most of the $400,000 appropriation.

The Music Hall, Dairy Building, Trade Building, Swine Barn, Coliseum and several other buildings do not meet safety requirements of the Department of Labor, Industry and Human Relations, officials said.

SEN. Fred Risser, D-Madison said the appropriation amounted to "pouring money down a rat hole."

"Until I know there's some future to the fair," he said, "I don't believe we should vote to

Emergency Plans Made in View of Flood Forecasts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies and the American Red Cross are stepping up emergency preparations in the face of forecasts reaffirming major flood threats in the northern section of the United States. U.S. Weather Bureau spokesmen said again Tuesday the unusually deep snowpacks set the scene for heavy flooding when the spring thaw begins.

Red Cross spokesmen announced one of the largest preparedness programs the organization has ever undertaken, with flood watch headquarters already established at Omaha, Neb., Minneapolis, Minn., and Rock Island, Ill. Seventeen additional district offices and another 17 mobile canteens are ready.

Meanwhile, the White House Office of Emergency Preparedness said more than 100 Army engineers were improving flood protection facilities in the upper Midwest. Aerial surveys are being made in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas to find obstructions that should be removed.

The Corps of Engineers headquarters at St. Paul, Minn., has ordered one million sandbags be made available.

keep it limping along." Walter Renk, a Sun Prairie farmer, said the present site provides no room for expansion. He asked that the fair be relocated.

"The state fair has operated without a state subsidy since 1933," he noted, "and has had no new facilities since 1956."

It's a good idea to keep a pastry brush on hand for brushing meats with barbecue sauce when they're being cooked in the oven. A long handled brush is necessary for outdoor barbecuing, but the regular short handled pastry brush is fine for oven barbecuing.

In other elections Tuesday, the two finalists were chosen in a southern Minnesota district for a vacant state Senate seat and the City of Rochester picked a new mayor.

Bernard Bischoff won by more than a 2-to-1 margin over former Rep. Loren Rutter of Kinney in the extreme western St. Louis County district.

Unofficial returns from 72 of 79 precincts gave Bischoff 6,305 votes, compared with 2,781 for former Rep. Loren Rutter of Kinney.

Bischoff was expelled Feb. 7 by a voice vote of the House, after a committee ruled he violated state fair campaign laws in winning the seat last November.

The charges were brought by former Rep. Jack Fena, also a Hibbing DFL'er. Fena did not enter the Feb. 25 primary.

Earl W. Renneke, 40, showed

Pathet Lao Hit Airport Near Laotian Capital

VIENTIANE (AP) — Fifty Pathet Lao soldiers attacked an airport two miles from the Royal Laotian capital of Luang Prabang today, government sources said.

The sources said two of the attackers were slain and three others, all North Vietnamese, were taken prisoner.

They put government losses at four killed and nine wounded and said a T28 plane was destroyed.

The communists last attacked the airport 15 months ago.

gained the two spots on the March 25 runoff election.

They'll vie for the seat left vacant by the traffic death last month of Sen. Harold Popp of Hutchinson. Both are Conservatives, as was Popp so the 45-22 Conservative margin in the Senate will remain intact.

Unofficial returns from the 77 precincts in Nicollet, Sibley and McLeod counties showed Renneke with 3,835 votes. Renneke was Popp's Sibley County campaign chairman four years ago. MacKenzie, 42, assistant Nicollet County attorney, had 2,572 votes. He ran second to Popp in 1966.

Elroy Webster, Nicollet farmer and businessman, was third with 1,550, followed by Herbert Flik of Hutchinson, a retired farmer, 1,162. Then came Hutchinson Mayor Don O. Kost 786; Leonard Pikal, Brownston farmer, 525; G.W. Wick, Hutchinson farmer, 139, and Al Schoonover of Hutchinson, 29.

Dewey Day, 39, was named mayor of Rochester by nearly a 2-to-1 margin. He had 8,590

Woman's Contact Lens Found in Her Son's Ear

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Doctors have found the contact lens that Mrs. Robert Eagleye of suburban Parma lost more than a year ago.

It was in the right ear of her 4-year-old son, Robert Eagleye Jr.

"Robert kept telling me it was in his ear, and I thought he was just joking. I looked inside his ear," said Mrs. Eagleye, "but couldn't see anything."

Robert was rushed to Deaconess Hospital Tuesday with a bleeding ear, and doctors used tweezers to remove the eyepiece from his ear.

votes and Leonard Eksstrand, 64, had 4,428.

Day succeeds Alex Smehta, who did not seek re-election. Smehta had been mayor since 1958.

Meanwhile, Gov. Harold LeVander has called a special election for April 8 to fill the vacancy in the House caused by the death of State Rep. Marvin

E. Christianson.

Filing for the race close March 18, and a primary will be held March 25 if more than two candidates file.

Christianson, who represented Norman and part of Polk counties, died last Saturday. Services are scheduled Friday at Halstad, and both houses of the legislature will be in recess.

Genealogical Research Report Slated

"My Heritage and Yours" will be the topic of Leo J. T. Brom, Goodview, at the Winona County Historical Society program at the Museum, 125 W. 5th St., Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Brom was born in Winona Township and has lived here continuously except for three years at the University of Minnesota where he graduated in 1942 from the School of Mines.

His four grandparents came to this area in the 1860s — the Brom, Holman, Kryzer and Machart families. His wife, also a native of Winona County, has three grandparents who came to Minnesota in the 1860s and one who came in 1881 — the Gardner, Blanchard, Fagerness and Langseth families.

Brom started his study with their eight grandparents and has traced their descendants down to the present time. In his talk he will relate interesting stories about them and where each family settled. He also will tell how he did his genealogical research, with valuable hints as to how others might work on their family trees.

Refreshments will be prepared and donated by Mrs. Dorothy Rahilly, Mrs. R. H. Bowers, Mrs. Vern Stelpflug and Mrs. Lewis I. Younger.

Austin Teachers Obtain Show Cause Order

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — A show cause order obtained by the Austin Teachers Council Tuesday was directed to the Austin School Board.

Kenneth Fossey, council chairman, said that group complained because the school board had failed to negotiate on all items concerning contract negotiations for the 1959-60 school year.

The order issued by District Judge Daniel F. Foley set a hearing for Friday, when the board is to show cause why it has failed to negotiate.

Academy 'Drafts' Falcons

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Future cadets must apply to join the U.S. Air Force Academy. But the falcons that become mascots at the Academy are drafted.

Wherever the Air Force football team goes, the falcons and their student handlers follow. During half-times, the fierce eyed birds provide exhibitions of free flight and diving.

As might be expected, AFA athletic teams are nicknamed the Falcons. But the mascots that spectators see at Air Force grid games don't come in ready-to-fly packages.

"When you see a young falcon flying at a football game, we've been working with that bird daily for about three months," says Col. J. C. McIntyre, academy veterinarian who heads the falcon program.

The academy is built close to the front range of the Rockies and each May a dozen falcon enthusiasts among the cadets search the nearby cliffs for nests of prairie falcons. They look for nests with two or more eyases—young birds—since they want to leave at least one in each nest.

Preliminary training for the young falcons plucked from beneath their mothers' wings begins immediately to get them used to their handlers. When this is over, the birds' feathers have grown out and they are ready to fly.

The next step is to train the young falcon to dive at a leather pouch attached to a long cord held by the falconer. The bird learns to make a series of swooping dives at the lure swung by the handler on the football field, then is allowed to catch the lure and is given a piece of meat as reward.

Academy falcons eat as well as the cadets do — chicken, venison, lean beef and occasionally quail. Right now the academy has six prairie white gyrfalcons from the Arctic and a saker from Saudi Arabia.

Last year the academy had a dropout falcon. While the birds were performing at a halftime show, a team of precision jet fighters zoomed low over the stadium.

"When they kicked on the afterburners," McIntyre said, "one falcon took off and didn't come back."

CLIMB SET

NEW DEHLI (AP) — The Indian Mountaineering Foundation has accepted a suggestion by "Everester" Lord John Hunt that a joint Indo-British expedition scale mountains in India.

Lord Hunt led the successful British expedition to Mount Everest in 1957.

Foundation president H. C. Sarin said preparations for the expedition would start in a year or so.

Fresh Water Again Flowing Through Keys

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — Fresh water is flowing again through the Florida Keys where, for three days, a motel owner said his "faucets just dripped water and that looked like mud."

The Navy at Key West said repairs to a vital, 125-mile pipeline originating at Florida City were completed late Tuesday, restoring the major source of fresh water for most of the island chain.

More than 7,000 permanent residents and tourists along an 80-mile stretch of the Keys were short of water after the pipeline ruptured Sunday when heavy seas knocked out a wooden piling. Motels tapped their swimming pools for emergency supplies of water, and some residents purchased water trucked into the area in five-gallon containers.

Winonan to Open Series in Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Dr. L. I. Younger, Winona, president of the Winona County Historical Society, will introduce a new series of programs by the Olmsted County Genealogical Society Thursday evening.

According to LeRoy Brown, society president, the meeting is open to the public, particularly to those persons interested in family research or history of the Rochester-Winona area, the Mississippi River Valley.

Question Red Carpet Treatment For Visits VIPs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The practice of rolling out the red carpet for visiting VIPs is under question at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Termining the practice "cheap theatrics," Lodge 23 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace workers said the mechanics "have a right to be free from having to bow and scrape for rank, ceremony, privilege and power."

Military personnel normally perform the rug rolling duty at Air Force installations, but civilians are used here because of the predominantly civilian makeup of the base's work force.

Soviets Want Others to Know Details

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched an unprecedented campaign to put its version of the recent border clash with the Chinese communists before major non-communist governments.

Official sources reported that Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin called at the French Foreign Ministry Tuesday to tell the French government about the bloody clash in the Far East on March 2.

Similar meetings were held in Japan and West Germany, the Tokyo and Bonn governments reported.

Soviet newspapers reported today that 19 of the 31 Soviet troops killed in the island battle would have survived if the Chinese had not knifed, bayoneted or shot them as they lay wounded on the ground.

U.S. Soul Music Influential in Africa

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — On the warfront, a few miles from the bullets, Nigerian officers have a dusty battery phonograph and a single album: The Supremes singing "I Remember Sam Cooke."

Like sound waves bouncing off a wall, American Negro music comes back to its starting places in Africa in nightly swells of James Brown, Otis Redding and Aretha Franklin.

Nigeria embraces "soul music" as a new emotion and makes no claim to it. It's edging into African fields long dominated by juju, highlife, Congolese jazz, kiki-kiri and other African rhythms that have hardly made the one-way trip to Harlem.

THEY DON'T call it soul in the Congo, but you're as likely to hear James Brown shout, "Say it loud, I'm black and proud" on Radio Kinshasa as on Radio Nigeria or any other black African radio transmitter. Across the continent, clubs filled with young, urban Africans rattle with Archie Bell and the Impressions.

Musicologists trace early Negro music back to Africa, follow it awhile and then argue about where the African influence wanes. Those close to music here are starting to chart the reverse influence.

Soul hands here copy records and styles of American artists. Sometimes in French-speaking countries the words are translated. If not, lyrics are usually unintelligible even to English speakers, but no one seems to care.

The effect is strong enough now to be controversy. One Lagos resident wrote the widely read Daily Times:

"I am fed up with Anglo-Saxon, pink American and brain-washed American Negro 'soul'

Moving Toward Prosecution of 'Roving Rioters'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department investigators are moving toward prosecution of persons one official called "rambling, roving rioters" who allegedly travel from campus to campus fomenting disturbances.

A department spokesman said Tuesday the evidence will be presented to grand juries when the government is sure its cases are airtight.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard said investigators are gathering evidence that individuals and organizations violated the 1968 Civil Rights Act by crossing state lines to incite campus riots.

Leonard would not identify those being investigated.

He said: "These rambling, roving rioters take over what may be a legitimate college protest and turn it into something else. In my mind, there are clear distinctions between legitimate exercise of protest that college students may engage in and other demonstrations."

music broadcast over our national radio network . . . they should play Nigerian highlife and folk songs . . . if the staff is not ready to promote and project our culture . . . I advise them to paint themselves pink, draw their noses long, straighten their hair, pack bag and baggage and join their counterparts in Britain and the United States."

BUT HIS letter pointed out the confusion over what soul is. He mentions the Everly Brothers and the Beatles. And they're white—few soul artists are.

A Nigerian music critic defined soul's origin:

" . . . if we must give to Caesar what is Caesar's and to God what is God's we just have to admit that soul is exclusively an Afro-American contribution to the world of music."

Soul's strongest footing in Africa is in Nigeria which with Biafra totals more than one-fourth of black Africa's 200 million inhabitants.

"It all started in February 1968," says Chris Okolie, a 21-year-old entertainment promoter who considers himself a major soul mover. "That was the big day, when the Soul Assembly played soul and everyone went wild and from that moment, soul music had a permanent place here."

Before then, a group called Us Five had played soul but no one knew what it was or cared, Okolie says.

The Soul Assembly, an eight-man combo led by an advertising account executive with arranging by a government purchasing officer, has been silenced since last fall because of beat-out drums and overworked sound equipment, Okolie said. "There's no money," he said. "No one is yet making enough money from soul music here to pay for a car or a house, much less the right equipment."

IT WOULD cost $3,360 to put the Soul Assembly back in business, he estimated. But meanwhile there's Soul Brother Ephraim and his Bag O' Fame on tour in Ghana. There's Tony

Nurse Reports No Mistreatment By Viet Cong

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Renate Kuhn, the West German nurse who was released after a year in Viet Cong captivity, said today: "I am completely normal. I was not mistreated."

Miss Kuhn, 28, arrived in Frankfurt on a flight from Saigon. She was to fly on to Dueseldorf and then drive to Schwelm for a reunion with her family. She looked pale and tired and spoke only briefly about her captivity and her release Saturday.

"I had more to eat than the Viet Cong, three times a day," she told newsmen. "I didn't have to work, but I later reported for work of my own free will."

Benson, son of famed musician-club owner Bobby Benson. There are the Gondolas, the Expenses, the Nutones and Dr. Victor Olaiya.

Okolie says he plans to assemble his own group which will out-soul anyone yet. "First I have to find someone to sponsor me to travel, in Europe, in the United States . . . I have nothing to learn from other promoters here," he says.

Obstacles to soul in Africa, Okolie says, are lack of cash and lack of informed attention on television, radio and in the press.

Gold Prices Hold Steady In London

LONDON (AP) — Gold prices held steady on the London market today and the pound gained in foreign exchange trading.

The two key international monetary indicators were stable following more than a week of jitters that had depressed the pound and boosted gold to record levels.

Gold opened at $42.975 an ounce in quiet trading, down slightly from $43.05 at Tuesday's closing. The metal had reached a record $43.825 Monday.

The pound opened at $2.3911, up from $2.3897 Tuesday. Expectations of favorable British monthly foreign trade figures Thursday was believed one factor buoying the pound.

Pressure on gold eased Tuesday amid growing confidence that France could survive its economic difficulties without devaluing the franc.

John Sloan polled 92 votes to defeat Earl Doane with 48 and Francis Heaser with 18. All are Plainview area men. Sloan succeeds the late Kermit Zickrick in the district composed of Plainview, Elgin and Highland townships. Term of supervisor is five years.

Votes in the townships were: Plainview — Sloan 41, Heaser 18 and Doane 12; Elgin — Sloan 11, Heaser 1, Doane 7, and Highland — Sloan 40, Doane 29 and Heaser 16.

Clerk Forest G. Lamprecht said the justice of the peace and constable will be terminated next year.

The town raised $20,000 and voted to match the county on bonds: 10 cents for pocket gophers, 3 cents for striped gophers and 15 cents for woodchucks. Some townships match the county's $1 for rattlesnakes.

In ELGIN Township, 19 votes cast, Philip Wright was re-elected supervisor for three years and Herbert Wurst, incumbent by appointment, was elected to fill an unexpired term of one year. Both had filed and received all 19 votes. Arnold Titzloff, incumbent treasurer, hadn't filed but received 9 write-ins for election. Theodore Rossin, clerk, received 3 write-ins.

Elgin raised $3,000 for the general fund, $14,000 for road and bridge, $2,000 for snow removal, and $1,100 for fire protection. It will pay 15 cents bounty for pocket gophers, 7 cents for striped porhairs and 15 cents for woodchucks, and the board will meet the first Monday of every month from June to October to pay them.

In HIGHLAND Township with 87 votes cast, Alfred Evers, who hadn't filed for re-election as supervisor, polled 56 write-ins to win over Harold Hall, who had filed and received 29 votes. Miles Cagley incumbent treasurer who hadn't filed for re-election, received 29 write-in votes to 9 cast for Robert Klees. The township raised $13,000, and voted to match the county on bonds.

The township raised $12,000 and voted to match the county on bonds.

Lake Township voted to hold an evening election next year because of the residents in some 25 homes along Lake Pepin who work in Lake City during the daytime. It raised $7,200, the same as last year, and will match county bonds.

Candidates were nominated by caucus at the meeting. William Lichtblau was re-elected supervisor over Harold Bremer 14 to 8. James Stewart defeated Ronald Brinkman 15 to 7 for treasurer to succeed John Beck, who retired after serving 36

House Votes to Stop Drinking by Airplane Pilots

ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota House voted in quick order Tuesday to curtail drinking by airplane pilots but to allow drinking on Sundays at the Twin Cities airport.

The first bill, by Rep. John Johnson, Minneapolis, would impose a one-year license revocation on pilots who refuse to take a chemical test for blood-alcohol content.

The measure, in effect, extends the state's implied consent law for auto drivers to pilots.

The second bill, by Rep. Richard Richie, St. Paul, allows the Sunday sale of liquor at the Twin Cities airport and on trains passing through the state.

Both measures gained preliminary approval without debate on voice votes.

Telepathic Society Seeks Permit to Rebuild Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Fellowship of the Ancient Mind, a telepathic society which claims to be 6,000 years old, is seeking a salvage permit to put Los Angeles back together after April. There have been frequent forecasts by mystics of a devastating earthquake next month.

Nonetheless, city Clerk Alice Porraz told the 11 members Tuesday that a $66 fee is required for such a permit, and the robed applicants left, empty-handed.

Lux Appointed To United Building Post

Robert W. Lux, 806 W. Burns Valley Rd., has been named vice president of United Building Centers, Inc., Winona-based retail lumber chain.

He has been in Winona since January, 1968, when he moved here to become assistant to the executive vice president.

Lux began his career in the lumber business with the Weyerhaeuser Co. at Armstrong, Iowa. Later he managed yards for the firm at Luverne and Forest City, Iowa, and Fairbault. In 1956, he was made credit manager for the Aberdeen, S.D., division of Weyerhaeuser and subsequently moved to management of the retail outlet at Billings, Mont.

When UBC purchased Weyerhaeuser retail yards in 1962, Lux became supervisor of a group of Montana yards, working in that capacity until moving to Winona.

2 Law, Order Bills Clear State House

ST. PAUL (AP)—Two law and order bills cleared the Minnesota House Tuesday.

One measure which would set penalties of up to $1,000 and a year in jail for interfering with the use of public buildings was passed by a 111-18 margin.

Approved on a 125-4 vote was a measure increasing the top fine in cases involving misdemeanors to $300 from the present $100. The maximum jail term remains at 90 days.

The House also gave preliminary approval to a measure allowing police to make arrests without a warrant when they have "probable cause" to believe a crime has been committed but have not actually been a witness to said crime.

In the Senate chambers, the Tax Committee recommended for passage a bill which gives resort owners relief from personal property taxes on resort equipment.

Items that would be exempt if the law was passed would be boats, motors and other equipment.

A county assessor was among those testifying in the bill's behalf. James O'Brien of Itasca County said that it costs his county half as much to assess the resort equipment as it gains from the collection.

O'Brien testified that he considered the present tax a "nuisance."

The Senate Highway Committee Tuesday recommended for passage a measure that would put colored photographs of state drivers on licenses. The bill was passed along to the Senate Finance Committee for further consideration.

The photo license bill proposes a 50-cent increase to the current licensing charge to pay for the photographs.

At House Highway Committee hearings, a perennial matter was brought up for reconsideration.

The committee voted 16-9 for the so-designated "Stius" bill which would record titles to automobiles with county registrars of deeds.

Minnesota now has a vehicle registration system, but does not have a formal "title" such as passes from hand to hand in other states.

The passage of has been repeatedly backed by bankers and car dealers who say a title law is badly needed to keep track of car and truck mortgages.

Treasure-Hunting Tourists Stalking Virgin Islands

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, St. Thomas, Virgin Islands (AP) — Trade routes in the Caribbean frequented by the pirates and adventurers of years ago are today crowded by modern-day treasure hunters.

The Virgin Islands, discovered by Columbus in 1493, are now the mecca for tourists bent on buying the luxury items displayed in great abundance and variety at enticing free port prices.

St. Thomas with its harbor town of Charlotte Amalie claims to be the busiest cruise port in the world. It is expected that over 350 passenger liners will visit the port in the six months ending May 31. Great ships like the United States, France, Nieuw Amsterdam and many more will land thousands of passengers to crowd the narrow streets and alleys of the town. Many more tourists will arrive via the hundreds of planes that land at the island's airstrip.

More tourists this year than ever before will tread streets named Dronningens Gade, Drakes Passage, Gutters Gade, First Creques Alley. Narrow streets and alleys are lined with warehouses built by Danes, French, Dutch, Spanish and English who occupied the islands until Denmark sold them to the United States in 1917 for $25 million.

Warehouses that held the rum and treasures of years ago now house the glamorous shops that display desirable goods from all corners of the earth. Stores have names like Bolero, Compass Rose, Golden Hynde, Sals, Little Switzerland, Snake in the Grass, The Bounty, Spanish Main, etc. Shops are filled with silks and fashions, silver and crystal, china, leather goods, cameras and perfumes, liquors, jewelry and watches, offered for sale at often half their cost in the United States. Residents of the U.S. mainland are able to return home with $200 worth of merchandise duty-free—more than from anywhere else in the world except Guam and American Samoa.

Young car thieves need your help.

Asserts Police Powers Cannot Be Reduced

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Limiting police powers of Wisconsin's public universities could cripple their ability to deal with student protesters, a legislative committee was told Tuesday.

University of Wisconsin president Fred Harrington made the assertion to the Assembly State Affairs Committee at a hearing on a campus enforcement bill.

The measure would require the state's two university systems to contract with local communities for police protection. The committee took no immediate action.

The University of Wisconsin has been under attack recently for allegedly not "getting tough" with student protesters, drug users and outside trouble makers.

"This measure would remove our ability to enforce the law," Harrington said.

He added that Madison and Milwaukee police already have jurisdiction at their respective UW campuses. They are the only two which maintain their own police forces.

Harrington told lawmakers he could "live with" the measure, but felt the cost would be "enormous." By reimbursing local communities, he said, "the legislature is opening the door for all manner of payments which have not been made to date." One of the bill's sponsors, Assemblyman Richard Pabst, D-Milwaukee, called it a "move toward economy and efficiency." Pabst said in addition to saving the taxpayers money, it would produce a better quality policeman.

He cited what he said are duplications of facilities and low standards on the police forces at the UW's Madison and Milwaukee campuses.

A slightly different version of the same argument was presented by the chief of the Madison Police Department, Wilbur Emery.

Emery said that while he has respect for the "professionalism" of the campus force, he could see great efficiencies if his department were to take over the job.

Besides, he said, the roles of the administrator and policeman are frequently in conflict. Emery admitted he would be unable to deal with the "social problems of the young" but said he could establish "the rapport necessary in the criminal investigations we undertake."

Mayor Otto Festge appeared in opposition to the bill. "Nowhere in the bill do I see a formula or a method to be used to reimburse local government," Festge noted. "All it says is that the regents shall contract with municipalities."

He suggested a method whereby the value of all state property within a city's limits would be used to compute the cost of maintaining police and fire services.

"Madison is not unwilling to accept its responsibility," he said, "but the state has a responsibility to us."

Another opponent, William O. Hart of Prairie du Sac, said it was a "deliberate attempt to attack the university."

Hart said the measure has "political overtones" and ignores a study made on the university police by Prof. Herman Goldstein, commissioned by the university.

In addition, he claimed, police have a "low tolerance threshold" in handling demonstrators.

"The fastest way to 'burn it down' is to bring in an alien force as an occupying body," he said.

Ralph Hanson, chief of security at the University of Wisconsin, objected to contentions that his men could not qualify as Madison police, asserting they meet the standards required of the State Highway Patrol.

Hanson defended his men against assertions that they have not cooperated in investigations of drug use and damage at demonstrations.

He noted, however, that when large number of people are involved in an act of destruction, it is hard to build a good case against one or two persons.

"It's one thing to make an arrest and another to make it stick in court," he said.

Man Serving Term For Robbery Says He Was Using LSD

BOSTON (AP) — A Waltham man serving 20 years for armed robbery of a bank told U.S. District Judge Charles E. Wyanski Tuesday he was under the influence of LSD when he pleaded guilty to the charge in May, 1967.

Judge Wyanski vacated the plea, condition and sentence and granted a motion for a new trial.

The defendant, Hector H. Johnson, 21, was released in personal recognizance. No date was set for a new trial.

DEAR ABBY:

Who Should Decide What Is 'Filth'?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In response to all those people who are disgusted with the unsolicited filth they receive in the mails:

Why are they so shook over pornography when the learned men on our Supreme Court are clearly in favor of it?

You may print this and use my name, and I hope you send a copy of it to CONGRESS.

Very truly yours, RALPH J. STURTRIDGE KANSAS CITY, KAS.

DEAR MR. STURTRIDGE: The SUPREME COURT is not "clearly in favor" of pornography. They are understandably concerned with the kind of censorship which would deny the individual the right to decide for himself what he may or may not read. And in a free society WHO shall make those decisions? It is not as simple as it appears. The "medicine"—however well-intended—is sometimes worse than the disease.

DEAR ABBY: Last Christmas I gave Cindy an engagement ring, and later on we decided that marriage was not for us, so we called the whole thing off. Both Cindy and I are over 25, and I can honestly say that there are no broken hearts.

Cindy and I picked out the ring together. She likes it very much and wants to keep it as she has another boy friend who is willing to take over the payments.

My question: Would it be ungentlemanly of me to suggest that he also reimburse me for the down payment? GERRY

DEAR GERRY: No. Go ahead and ask him. All you have to lose is the down payment.

DEAR ABBY: My husband pointed out a letter in your column from the man who wanted his wife to doll up and put on something sexy, revealing, and provocative once in a while—just for him.

I didn't need to read that in your column, Abby. I've been doing it for years.

It's a well-known fact that a woman with nothing on isn't nearly as sexy as one who wears a filmy little something. If a man sees the whole show at once, what's left for guessing?

Maybe you ought to let MEN in on that secret. Believe me, there's nothing sexy about a 51-year-old fat boy in the nude. So sock it to 'em, Abby, and tell husbands to cover up a little, too. FIFTY-ONE AND STILL SEXY

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to a "CONFIDENTIAL" you had in your column not long ago.

Your words were: "It is a common and tragic misconception that people who threaten to commit suicide never do. Nearly everyone who has committed suicide has warned others of his intentions."

I don't know for whom this message was intended, but I want to thank you for printing it. When I told them I was going to try suicide, no one believed me, and I ended up doing just that. As you can see, I am still here. Now I am glad that I didn't succeed, and I'm getting the help I needed all along. God bless you, Abby, and thanks a million. GLAD TO BE ALIVE

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the 15-year-old unwed mother who refused to give up her child. I beg you to send her this warning: Unwed teen-agers who want to amuse themselves with "cute" babies must be made to realize that babies grow up sure as cuddly kittens become tough cats.

My sister kept her illegitimate baby, and she adored him. He is now 20. Recently he broke one of her ribs and put a scar on her chin in various "requests" for money. He seldom works, pays nothing, but camps in her two-room apartment, demanding fine meals at his convenience.

Sure, my sister is "sick in the head" to permit it, but she shuts her ears to any advice and glosses over her selfishness by calling it "mother love." She has twisted his life and ruined her own. And so will anyone who tries to own a living human plaything.

A mother who truly loves her child will want it to have a family where it can grow unscarred and unashamed. The child who is smothered by this kind of insatiable "love" learns only to hate.

Please, Abby, tell mothers of unwed teen-agers to persuade them if they can, force them if they must, but be sure they give up the baby. SORRY AUNT

NASON ON EDUCATION

What's Going on In Education?

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. University of So. Calif.

New Help For The Retarded: A mentally retarded child is out of step with normal children.

His pace is slower. He needs individual attention, and lots of it, to make progress in learning.

The Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation has just made an additional grant of $180,000 for scholarships in this field.

The Kennedy program aims to stimulate recruitment and training of religious and lay teachers to teach the mentally retarded in Catholic special schools.

In three years it has awarded 266 full scholarships and 68 partial scholarships.

Educational Exotics: With the opening of a graduate level laboratory course in Experimental Vibrations, Ohio State University, is establishing another first.

This "vibrations laboratory" is partly sponsored by the National Science Foundation. While its first project, the vibration of a shell, is simple to visualize, it plans to move into such new areas as the dynamic properties of materials, or magnetoelasticity, dynamic stability, or thermoplasticity. That's the sort of language (they hope) to attract graduate students.

Education Drive In Georgia: The report by the Governor's

Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education in Georgia calls for extensive policy changes in the state's education system.

It recommends extensive promotion to give vocational education proper status.

It would make employment-oriented educational facilities available to students 18 hours a day and 300 days a year. It recommends change in laws governing employment of children to encourage students to get work experience under school jurisdiction.

Training The College Prexy: More than 500 college president's jobs are going begging and still more vacancies exist in lesser positions.

The American Council on Education Internships in Academic Administration appears to hold great promise in solving the shortage.

Each intern does apprentice work in one administrative office after another on the university campus. A concerted attempt is made to give him a first-hand feel of the working organization as well as the problems he will face as an actual administrator.

I interviewed a young man who had spent three months as an administrative intern. From his description of the background training he was receiving and his enthusiasm for the program, I gained a favorable view of the possibilities of this program.

Winona Township To Install Lights

WINONA TOWNSHIP — Residents of Winona township approved the installation and operation of three street lights in the township at the annual meeting Tuesday.

One of the lights will be installed at the intersection of Trunk Highway 14 and County State Aid Highway 21. Requests for lights at this intersection had been rejected both by the state highway department and the Winona County Board.

Residents of the area felt the need for light here and at two points in the residential area along the old West Burns Valley Road, Glen Mary. The lights will be installed and maintained by Northern States Power Co. for $45 each a year.

In the annual election a new supervisor was elected. Rollis Larson will succeed James O'Laughlin. Larson received 32 write-in votes, following a campaign by supporters, to the 30 received by O'Laughlin, who had filed for re-election.

Ella Angst got 65 votes for treasurer and Lucille Lackore, 64 for justice of peace. Both are incumbents and had filed. The annual levy was set at about 15 mills. About $3,400 was allowed for road and bridge; $1,000 for general revenue and $322 for poor.

In balloting for soil and water conservation district supervisors, Clinton Dabelstein got six votes in Burns-Homer-Pleasant, Earle Drenckhahn got 22 and Lowell Barkeim, 35 in Winona.

Warren Boosts Budget by $1,000

The budget was increased $1,000 to a $15,000 total, $3,500 general fund, $500 for road and $11,000 road and bridge.

Lowell Barkeim got 35 votes for supervisor of the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District and Earle Drenckhahn Jr., 1.

Two Returned At Rollingsstone

ROLLINGSTONE — Two incumbent officials were returned to office in light balloting.

They are supervisor Ed Yarolimek with 36 votes and treasurer Mrs. Helen Lehmertz 41. No one received a majority in scattered balloting for justice of peace and constable.

In voting for supervisor for the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District, Earle Drenckhahn Jr. got 34 votes and Lowell Barkeim 7.

The budget was set at $12,850, up $850 from a year ago. Funds: General, $300; poor, $253; fire protection, $300, and road and bridge, $12,000.

Wiscoy Write-ins Back Incumbents

WISCOY — Two officials were renamed to office in write-in balloting.

They are Walter Albrecht, supervisor, who got 17 of the 20 votes cast and Charles J. Waldo, treasurer, with 15 votes.

The annual levy remains the same, $9,000. Clinton Dabelstein received all 20 votes for supervisor of the Burns-Homer-Pleasant Soil and Water Conservation District.

Township Residents To Mow Own Weeds

ST. CHARLES, Minn. — A light turnout of voters, 21, was noted in St. Charles Township Tuesday.

All residents of the township will mow the weeds along the township roads adjacent to their property.

AT ST. PAUL MEETING

They are Grace Olson and Shirley Nelson, students in the Winona Area Vocational-Technical School course in practical nursing at Community Memorial Hospital, and Martha Collins, 672 E. Wabasha St., a licensed practical nurse.

Winona Townships Elect

Favor Hackbarth By Write-ins in Pleasant Hill

PLEASANT HILL — Roger Hackbarth, incumbent supervisor who had not filed for re-election, received 33 write-in votes and has agreed to serve another three-year term.

A total of 36 votes were cast with 33 going to incumbent treasurer, Ewald Gaedy, for a two-year term.

Ray McNally, who had resigned as supervisor, received 22 write-in votes for the two remaining years of the term. He hadn't accepted the post as of today. Garhard Erdmann received 8 write-in votes.

Robert McNally, incumbent constable, got 27 write-in votes for constable. He hadn't filed.

The levies remain the same — $1,000, general fund, and $9,000 road and bridge. Clinton Dabelstein, Winona, received 33 votes for supervisor for the Burns-Homer-Pleasant Soil and Water Conservation District.

Woman New Dresbach Clerk

DRESBACH (Special) — Mrs. Kenneth Reed was appointed clerk to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Madelin Clements, who resigned recently, at the annual township meeting Tuesday.

Mrs. Clements resigned after filings closed so the post could not be placed on the ballot.

In the annual election, an unusually large number of voters, 60, turned out. Allan W. Moore, incumbent supervisor, received 54 votes.

In other balloting, LeRoy Sampson got 4 for two years as justice of peace; William Everson, 3 for justice, one year; Kenneth Reed, 3 for constable, two years, and William Noben, 6, constable, one year.

The road and bridge fund was set at $3,000 and the general fund at $1,500.

Clinton Dabelstein got 46 votes for supervisor of the Burns-Homer-Pleasant Soil and Water Conservation District.

19 Hart Voters Re-elect Four

Four incumbent officials were named: John Kryzer, treasurer, two years, 15 votes; Martin Boehmke, supervisor, three years, 17; Leo Kryzer, justice of peace, two years, 9 votes, and Alvin Wenzel, constable, two years, 12.

The levies were the same as last year — $2,200 for general fund and $6,500 for road and bridge.

Lowell Barkeim received 16 votes and Earle Drenckhahn Jr. 3 for supervisor of the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District. Clinton Dabelstein got 2 in the Burns-Homer-Pleasant District.

Two Incumbents Back in Office In Whitewater

WHITEWATER — Only 17 voters turned out for the annual election. Two incumbents were re-elected.

Cyril Kronebusch was named supervisor for three years with 16 votes and Lyle Swanson, treasurer for two years, with 14 votes. Both had filed.

In balloting for supervisor for the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District, Lowell Barkeim got 4 votes and Earle Drenckhahn Jr., 13.

The levies set up were the limit for the township, up slightly from last year due to increased valuation. Funds set were general revenue, $942.30; road and bridge, $4,711.52, and fire protection, $260 to Plainview and $50 to Altura.

Hillsdale Town Decisions Made By 16 Voters

HILLSDALE — All of the incumbents were re-elected in very light balloting; 16 votes were cast.

Renamed to office were Richard Tews, treasurer; L. J. McMartin, supervisor; Raymond Ledebuhr, justice of peace, and LeRoy Gaulke, constable. All had filed.

The "limit" was set in budgeting — $628 for revenue; $3,140 for road and bridge; $400 for fire protection and $100 for cemetery care.

In voting for supervisor of the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District, Lowell Barkeim and Earle Drenckhahn Jr. each got 7 votes.

Wilson Increases Road, Bridge Fund

WILSON — Residents decided to increase their road and bridge fund $3,000 this year for needed road work. The revenue fund was decreased $1,000. The road and bridge fund was set at $14,000 and the revenue at $2,000.

A total of 115 votes were cast. Incumbent Treasurer Mrs. Irene Schmidt got 88 votes in her bid for re-election. Incumbent Supervisor Hugo Hornberg got 60 write-in votes compared with 35 for Herbert Hassinger.

In voting for supervisors of the Burns-Homer-Pleasant Soil and Water Conservation District, Clinton Dabelstein got 74 votes and Hassinger 16 write-ins. In the Winona district, Lowell Barkeim got 7 and Earle Drenckhahn Jr. 2.

Raymond Schell was re-elected treasurer with 40 votes; write-in votes went to Earle Drenckhahn, 8, and William Drenckhahn, 1.

The residents decided not to elect a constable or justice of peace. Townships have this option.

Two levies for the coming year were increased: Road and bridge, up $1,000, to $8,000, and fire, up $100, to $700. Other funds are: General, $1,100; poor, $500, and cemetery, $50.

In the contest for soil and water conservation supervisor for the Winona District, Lowell Barkeim, Winona Rt. 1, got 11 votes and Earle Drenckhahn Jr., Minneka, 43.

Flu Blamed For Light Town Vote

FREMONT — The flu was blamed for an exceptionally light turnout. Only 20 votes were cast.

John Schloegel was renamed supervisor for two years with 18 votes. The other two went to Roger Baer on write-ins.

Incumbent treasurer Gerald Simon got all 20 votes for another two-year term as did Donald Klug for constable.

The budget was increased $2,500, to a total of $15,000. The increase was attributed to increased costs of snow removal.

Voters gave Lowell Barkeim 15 votes and Earle Drenckhahn 3 for supervisor of the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District.

Michaelis Wins By Single Vote In Norton Town

NORTON — An 18-17 vote in the race for treasurer put a new man in office. William Michaelis defeated incumbent Martin Hilke.

Incumbent supervisor Harold Rupprecht was re-elected with 32 votes. Henry Neumann got one write-in.

Hilbert Gensmer, incumbent, got 8 write-in votes for constable. Alvin Gensmer had 3 and Ray Kronebusch, 1.

Only 11 Ballot In Elba Township

ELBA — Two incumbents received all of the 11 votes cast in a very light turnout of voters.

Frank Brosig was renamed supervisor for three years and Edwin Benedet, treasurer, for two years.

The levies are the same as last year — $5,000 for road and bridge and $1,000 for general fund.

Earle Drenckhahn Jr., Minneka, got 6 votes and Lowell Barkeim, Winona Rt. 1, 4 for supervisor in the Winona Soil and Water Conservation District.

The total budget was increased $1,500, most of which is for road work. The levies set were $4,000 for road and bridge; $4,500 for crushed rock and $2,500 for snow removal; $4,000 for general revenue; $1,000 for poor, and $300 for fire protection.

Coin Flip Decides Saratoga Contest

SARATOGA—Clerk Roy Hesby flipped a coin and a 33-vote tie was broken in Saratoga Township.

The coin "turned up" Layton Mundt, and that made him the new township chairman, succeeding Locksey Campbell, on the board since 1969 and chairman the past year. Both had filed.

It was the only contest. Leon Sackreiter was re-elected with 61 votes out of the 66 cast. He had filed.

Two other offices were filled by write-in. Incumbent justice Charles Taylor got 18 write-ins and incumbent constable George Martin got 19.

The township gave Lowell Barkeim 35 votes and Earle Drenckhahn Jr. 19 votes for soil conservation district supervisor.

The voters increased the road and bridge levy to $14,000, a boost of $3,000, but left the general fund levy at $2,000 and the fire levy at two mills. The gopher bounty is unchanged — 5 cents from the township.

Major Levies Same at Homer

HOMER — About an average turnout of voters was recorded. A total of 46 residents voted and 26 attended the annual meeting.

Warren (Bud) Fay with 3 votes topped write-in balloting for constable.

The major levies are the same as last year: $4,000, general revenue, and $9,500, road and bridge. The fire protection fund for Pickwick was raised from $300 to $500 and a $100 fund was approved this year for Ridgeway.

Clinton Dabelstein got 41 votes for supervisor for the Burns-Homer-Pleasant Soil and Water Conservation District.

Water Shortage Predicted

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A severe water shortage faces the 17 western states unless substantial new sources can be developed by the year 2020, says a Colorado River reclamation expert.

H. P. (Pat) Dugan has estimated that in 50 years the western regional population should reach 64 million and irrigated areas could easily advance from 36 million acres at present to 50 million acres.

Dugan is chief of project investigations for the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and chairman of the Upper Colorado River Commission. He delivered his warning in a recent address before the Four States Irrigation Council, representing Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas.

Current water withdrawal in the 17 states is 158 million acre-feet annually and could be 290 million acre-feet by 2020, he said.

Northern California and the Columbia River basin are the only western areas which now have an abundance of water, Dugan said.

He urged prompt and detailed water studies in California, particularly in view of the new Colorado River Basin Project Act which provides that no water importation studies for that basin can be undertaken for 10 years.

He proposed investigating schemes for importing water from Canada and urged an inventory of waters from the Mississippi River system "with a view toward supplying more water for the Missouri River Basin states and Texas and Oklahoma."

Nuclear power for desalting sea water may be a possibility by 1990, but alternatives to water importation will be very expensive, Dugan said.

Ask Increase For Tourism Development

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The State Tourism Advisory Council has recommended a 100 percent increase in tourism development funds, especially to help Wisconsin's outdoor promotion programs remain in good health.

The council said Tuesday the state's $500,000 program should be increased to $1 million over the next two fiscal years.

A bill, which would need approval of the Department of Natural Resources, is being prepared for lawmakers, calling for an increased state support for tourism and use of $250,000 of the $1 million sum as a subsidy for promotion.

The doubled outlay, council spokesmen said, would be backed by increased tax revenue from tourists.

The sources include nonresident fishing licenses, beer taxes, express way tolls and new taxes on motels and campsites.

House Delays Consideration of Increasing Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — House consideration of a bill to increase the national debt limit by $12 billion has been postponed until next week.

There was speculation party whips may be having trouble rounding up votes to raise the current $365 billion ceiling, but House leaders denied this.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said Tuesday that Rules Committee Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., had

Kipling Workshop Being Torn Down

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — The building where Rudyard Kipling worked as a newspaperman and conceived his books is being torn down to make way for a modern office building.

For a century the building housed the English-language newspaper Civil and Military Gazette. It closed three years ago and now with the disappearance of Kipling's old office will go a major reminder of this writer who immortalized the India of the British Raj. Kipling edited the newspaper in the 1890s. The wide tree-lined main street called the Mall is much the same as when the author gazed from his office at the passing scene.

Yellow-topped Japanese Datsun taxicabs have replaced the rickshaws of Kipling's days, but the street still abounds with a variety of carts drawn by horses, donkeys, camels and oxen. Herdsmen move sheep and goats along the roadside.

Abdul Hamid Sheikh, a former editor of Kipling's newspaper, says:

"Apparently Kipling was an untidy person."

"He used to do his writing with an old-fashioned pen and he'd splash off all the surplus ink until he had the right amount. If you stood near him you were likely to get splashed."

"Also he was a bit lazy at times as editor of the paper. He was not above taking an old editorial from a back number and reprinting it in the current issue of the paper."

"When I was editor of the newspaper I would notice that bits of Kipling's desk used to disappear—a drawer one day a piece of the desk top the next. I found an employee was selling it to visitors. There wasn't much left of the desk in the end."

Abdul Hamid said Kipling collected the folk tales for such works as "The Jungle Book" from the people he met in Lahore and on his travels. He was fluent in the Punjabi language.

"He has never been very popular with the people he wrote about," Abdul Hamid observed.

"For instance his works are not studied in the schools here. There is little or nothing of his available in Urdu."

"That is the main language of Pakistan."

Many Pakistanis—and Indians too—feel that Kipling merely reflected the views of the ruling British and treated the locals in a patronizing way.

Attempts to find any of Kipling's books in local shops meet with blank stares.

43 Injured When Mexican Bus Goes Out of Control

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Forty-three persons were injured Tuesday night when a bus went out of control and ran down a 60-foot embankment, authorities said.

The driver, Jorge Rosales Durazo, 21, said, "As we began to pick up speed on the downgrade, I stepped on the brake pedal and it caught. Then, suddenly, the pedal went all the way to the floor. I tried the hand brake but I couldn't stop the bus, so I tried to shift into low gear and I just couldn't do it."

I began dodging oncoming cars and looking for a solid structure to crash against.

I hit a house corner, then dove down a cliff until we came to a stop. Screaming passengers rolled down on top of me and I saw many bleeding and crying for help."

The injured persons were taken to a nearby hospital. Officials there said none of the injuries was critical.

Waseca Upset by Austin '5' 74-69

By CARL PETERSON
Daily News Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, Minn. — In a game people by giants, Austin's 6-0 junior guard Rick Knutson stood out among all the rest.

Making only his second start of the season, Knutson and his 23 points sparked Austin's 74-69 upset victory over previously unbeaten Waseca before 4,183 in the first semifinal game of the Region One tournament at the Mayo Civic Auditorium, here, Tuesday.

KNUTSON scored nine of the Packers' 14 points during the middle stages of the game when Austin came from a 37-36 deficit late in the second quarter to gain its biggest lead of the game at 50-42 midway through the third period. Then, after Waseca had narrowed the gap to 58-56 early in the final stanza, he canned a pair of jumpers from the free throw line and added a free throw to stretch the Packers advantage to 63-56 with 5:47 remaining. Waseca got as close as three points after that, but seven of 10 shooting from the free throw line in the final two minutes gave the underdog Packers their biggest win of the season.

"Knutson did a great job, didn't he," asked Austin coach Oscar Haddorff. "He started once before against Mayo, but he's our best jumper and we wanted all the advantages we could get against Waseca's size."

KNUTSON, although he had 11 points in the first half, really became effective in the second half after Waseca switched from a 2-3 zone to a 1-2-2.

Haddorff moved Knutson from a wing spot to the high post and the little guy responded with key buckets all through the last half.

The results were Waseca's first loss of the season after 21 straight wins and moved Austin, now 15-1, into Friday's 8 p.m. final against either Rochester John Marshall or Spring Valley. The latter two teams play at 8 tonight in the second first round game.

Once-beaten John Marshall, the District Three champion, is the heavy favorite in tonight's game. If the Rockets win, they will have a chance to avenge their only loss of the season. Austin defeated JM 73-64, Jan. 10.

BESIDES Knutson's sparkling performance another key factor in Austin's victory Tuesday was rebounding. The Packers finished with a 34-23 bulge on the boards against the losers, who had 6-9 Rolf Iversen and 6-8 Gene Wood up front.

"We tell our kids that the team which does the better job rebounding wins 90 percent of the time and tonight was no exception. I thought Schollmeier (Charlie) and Goshka (Craig) did a good job in that department," said Haddorff.

Waseca's Manny Beckmann was of the same mind, saying: "As far as I'm concerned, rebounding was the difference. They picked up all the loose stuff and we didn't. They were nine times the team we were tonight; they did a particularly good job blocking off our big men, especially in the fourth quarter."

Although Waseca's Iversen finished as the game's leading scorer with 23, before fouling out with 1:02 to go, only five of those came in the last quarter. Four times in that period Goshka, Schollmeier and Mark Rathke stepped in to break up passes intended for Iversen.

SCHOLLMEIER held Wood to just 16 points, seven below his average.

Austin led most of the way and never trailed after Knutson's burst in the second quarter. Waseca had early leads of 8-6, 13-12 and 15-14, but was never able to gain control. Austin's biggest first half lead was the 45-39 halftime advantage. The Packers led by eight points three times in the second half. In the first half, the shooting — by both teams — was little short of sensational. Austin, with Tim Ball making good on seven of 10 from the field, shot 64 percent (19-35) while Waseca made 19 of 28 for a sizzling 64 percent. Iversen was seven for eight from the floor in the half.

Of course, he didn't take a shot more than two feet from the basket.

Austin cooled considerably in the second half, meshing just 8 of 23 for 35 percent, but Waseca was 13 of 25 for 52 percent. The losers finished with a 58 percent average (31-53) while Austin was 27 for 58 or 46 percent.

OBVIOUSLY then, the Packers won the game from the free throw line, making 20 of 29 compared to 7 of 15 for Waseca. Austin finished with just 10 turnovers despite a full court Waseca press in the last quarter while the Jays committed 13 against constant Austin harassment.

Beside's Knutson's 23, Ball had 19, Schollmeier 13 and Rathke 10 for Austin, whose starters played the whole game. The 6-7 Goshka had 10 rebounds and Schollmeier, 6-4, eight. Gary Theelke, Waseca's 6-1 forward, aided Wood and Iversen with 12 points.

Braemar Is Course for State Classic

ST. PAUL (AP) — Formal announcement has been made that the 1969 Minnesota Golf Classic will be held July 10-13 at the Braemar Golf Course in suburban Edina.

Tournament officials, however, say they won't know for sure who the 150 Professional Golfers Association stars will be until the Sunday before the $100,000 tournament.

The biggest names in U.S. golf probably will bypass the tournament to compete in the British July 9-12.

Dan Sikes won the tournament last year at the Keller Golf Course in St. Paul.

The par 71, 7,000-yard Braemar course will be in its fifth season, featuring rolling hills. There will be little obstacles from young trees but golfers will find water near at least nine greens.

NCAA Regionals Open Thursday At Eight Sites

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Let the Drake Bulldogs beware.

Hardly anyone gives Texas A&M of the Southwest Conference a chance against the Bulldogs of the Missouri Valley Conference in the NCAA post season basketball championship tourney Thursday.

Drake, 23-4 and boasting a 10-game winning streak, meets the Aggies 18-7 in the NCAA Midwest Regional at Manhattan, Kan., and on paper seems a shoo-in. But the same situation prevailed in the Midwest Regionals last season and the year before. On each occasion the SWC representative upset the dope. Last year Texas Christian beat Kansas State 77-72. In 1967 Southern Methodist astounded Louisville 83-81.

So when Shelby Melnick, Texas A&M coach, declares, "We've got to stop their fast break and I don't think that's been done," let Drake take fair warning.

The game is one of eight regional NCAA games which, along with the opening of the NIT tourney in New York, highlights Thursday's program.

Colorado and Colorado State U. meet in the other Midwest NCAA Regional at Manhattan.

In the East Regional at College Park, Md., St. John's, N.Y., vs. Davidson and Duquesne vs. North Carolina. At Madison, Wis., in the Midwest Regional, it's Kentucky vs. Marquette and Purdue vs. Miami of Ohio. At Los Angeles in the West Regional, it's Santa Clara vs. Weber State and New Mexico State vs. UCLA.

Florida is pitted against Temple and St. Peter's, N.J., against Tulsa in the opening first-round doubleheader of the NIT.

While the big boys are waiting offstage, the small college teams take the spotlight today. The quarter-finals of the NCAA college division are scheduled at Evansville, Ind.

Twins Triumph On Uhlaender's Slam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A grand slam home run snapped Boston's winning spring season but Red Sox Manager Dick Williams was smiling. His thoughts were on bigger things—like a crashing double by Tony Conigliaro.

The Minnesota Twins, aided by Ted Uhlaender's second-inning home run with the bases full, stopped Boston 7-6 Tuesday, after the Red Sox had taken their first three spring baseball exhibitions.

In the top of the inning, Conigliaro smashed a pitch by left-hander Jim Ollum off the fence in left center field for a stand-up double. A strong wind helped cut down what looked like a sure home run.

"He's looked very, very good," an elated Williams said. "There isn't a gutsier player in the American League," referring to the 24-year-old Tony C., who is trying to come back after a near-disastrous beating by California pitcher Jack Hamilton which fractured his cheekbone on Aug. 18, 1967.

Conigliaro, whose hit was his first of the spring—although he's been hitting the ball hard—is now one for six. More importantly he has only struck out once and that was a called third strike.

Last spring Conigliaro attempted to come back, but after getting only six hits in 55 at bats and striking out 22 times, the 1965 AL home run champion, gave up in despair.

However the outfielder now says his eyesight is perfect again and Williams is counting on him for a regular berth.

Meanwhile, another fellow named Williams—Ted—wasn't doing much smiling. The new manager of the Washington Senators had seen his team lose five straight times although they did end a scoreless string at 19 innings.

Baltimore nipped Washington 2-1, helped by 14 bases on balls by Senator pitching. Tim Lincecum's run-scoring single in the eighth inning got Washington its run.

In other Florida exhibitions, Atlanta stopped Houston 5-3, Detroit nipped Pittsburgh 5-4, Cincinnati topped Kansas City 6-1, the New York Mets crushed the Philadelphia Phillies B team 15-7, the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 6-3, St. Louis mauled the Philadelphia 8-1 and Los Angeles got by Montreal, 4-1.

In Arizona, Oakland crushed San Francisco 11-5, Cleveland nudged San Diego 5-3 and California downed the Chicago Cubs 7-4.

Wartburg Upset in NAIA Tournament

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Stout State, the Wisconsin State University Conference champion, takes on a fellow spoiler this evening in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics' basketball tourney.

Maryland State now 21-6, upset seventh-seeded Wartburg of Iowa 99-90 Tuesday night. It was Wartburg's first loss after 25 victories.

Stout similarly downed a rated team, beating tenth-seeded Linfield of Oregon Monday 113-80. Stout is now 22-4.

Maryland State's Hawks outscored Wartburg 12-4 in the final minutes, and ended the game with Jake Ford scoring 41 points, the best production in the NAIA tourney up to that state.

Three Records Set in Stars 3-3 Deadlock

ST. PAUL (AP) — Season scoring records tumbled but the goalies drew most of the praise in 3-3 National Hockey League tie between the Boston Bruins and Minnesota North Stars.

Nuness Honored By Teammates As Gopher MVP

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Al Nuness, voted by his teammates as the most valuable player on the Minnesota Gophers basketball team, will be an assistant freshmen coach with the team next year.

Coach Bill Fitch made the announcement Tuesday at the Backcourt Club meeting, and said the Gophers have elected Larry Mikan and Larry Oversekai co-captains for the 1969-70 season.

Nuness, the outgoing captain, was the team's second leading scorer with an average of 16.4 points per game.

"His selection as most valuable was not unanimous because he didn't vote for himself," Fitch told Gopher boosters. "You can see he is going to be hard to replace when we have two guys taking his place."

Mike Regenbuss, a reserve guard, was honored by teammates as Mr. Hustle for the past season.

Mikan, 6-foot-7 junior from Edina, led the Gophers in scoring with an average of 18.3 points per game and in rebounds with 25.2. Oversekai, 6-6, a junior from Alexander-Ramsey, was the team's third leading scorer, averaging 12.4 points per game.

The Gophers closed the 1968-69 season Saturday night with a 12-12 record, whipping Michigan State 78-65 in the finale.

Boston goalie Eddie Johnston kicked out 43 shots while chunky Minnesota rookie Fern Rivard spent most of the game sprawled on the ice stopping 25 shots Tuesday night.

Bruin center Phil Esposito and defenseman Bobby Orr and North Star left wing Danny Grant got their names in the record book.

Esposito surpassed the all-time assists mark, Orr tied the record for most points by a defenseman and Grant became the highest scoring rookie in the modern era.

"That's the man who did the work," Grant said pointing at Rivard, who was a substitute for the injured Cesare Maniago. "Johnston was unbelievable for the Bruins. I've never seen him play like that."

Grant slapped in his 30th and 31st goals, breaking the rookie record of 30 set by Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal in 1951-52.

"I'm glad to get it out of the way," said Grant, "but I'm shooting for more now. I'm going for 35."

Esposito's two assists gave him 68 for the year, moving him past Montreal's Dickie Moore and Chicago's Stan Mikita. Both got their records in playoff games.

Orr, with a goal and an assist in the first period as the Bruins took a 2-1 edge over Grant's first goal, now has 59 points and is tied with Chicago's Pierre Pilote for the NHL record.

Orr needs one goal to tie the record for goals by a defenseman in one season.

Grant's second-period marker tied the game at 2-2. Esposito set up Ron Murphy's second goal of the game later in the period and the North Stars tied it at 13:47 of the third period on Ray Cullen's deflection.

The tie pushed Boston two points behind first-place Montreal in the East Division and pulled Minnesota to within three points of fourth place Philadelphia in the West Division.

Locally Owned Horse Captures Iowa Laurels

Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Harris, 663 Daota St., are mighty proud horse fanciers. Their four-year-old stallion, Royal Genius of Harris Heights, known in the show ring as Harrison Genius, was recently crowned Iowa Saddle Horse Association Open Fine Harness Champion of 1968.

This is the first time in the history of the association that a junior horse has been accorded the honor.

This spectacular bay stallion has been featured with his trainer, Charles Eddins of Maple Hill Stable in Buffalo Center, Iowa, in two national horse magazines, "Horse World" and "Saddle & Bridle".

Genius, as he is affectionately called by his owners, is noted for his bold appearance and high motion. Knowledgeable horsemen describe him as a "crowd pleaser". A partial list of his winnings include the Iowa and Minnesota state fairs, the Denver National Western plus numerous wins in South Dakota and Iowa.

Besides their horses which are being trained by Eddins, the Harries have a fine selection of registered horses on their farm in Pleasant Valley. With their breeding and training program, the Harries have accomplished in a few years what has taken others many.

HIGH-STEPPER . . . Harrison 'Genius', a four-year-old bay stallion owned by Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Harris of Winona is shown in action this past year in one show which led to the Iowa Saddle Horse championship. Handling the performance is the horse's trainer, Charles Eddins.

IT'S ALL A PUZZLE TO RICK . . . Rick Barry, the Oakland Oaks' 6-7 scoring whiz, works a puzzle in his Los Angeles apartment while recovering from knee surgery that put him out of American Basketball Association action for the rest of the season. Barry led the ABA in scoring with a 34-point average. (AP Photofax)

Can Williams' Presence Lift Lowly Nats?

(One of a Series)

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Mike Epstein had just checked in at the Washington camp when Manager Ted Williams asked him to step into his office.

"He said hello," said Epstein. "I said hello. He said, 'Let's get down to some serious baseball talk. And he proceeded to ask me what I try to do when I'm up at the plate.'"

Did Epstein get the feeling that Williams could help him with his hitting?

"Ted Williams," replied Epstein, "gives you that impression no matter what he's talking about."

Call it his exuberance, his knowledge, his presence—whatever it is—there is a feeling beginning to grow at this camp that those assets will enable Williams to get the most out of what abilities the Senators have.

And what abilities do they have?

After less than two short weeks of eyeing the material on hand, Williams says:

"I don't want to make the mistake of going overboard too soon—a mistake even experienced baseball managers make. But there are some guys out there who look like they can do it."

Some of the guys out there pulled the Senators to a tie for sixth place two years ago, but some of those same guys let the club drift into last place in 1968 despite the fact Frank Howard led the majors in homers with 44.

What Williams sees—and can't understand—is a catcher like Paul Casanova who was on the All-Star in 1967 and back in the minors last year, a pitcher like Phil Ortega who won only one game after May last year and a guy with Epstein's credentials who hit just .234.

The Senators' strong point last year was an outfield composed of Howard, who hit those 44 homers, drove in 106 runs and hit .274; and two newcomers—Del Unser and Brant Alyca. They just might remain as a unit.

There also are two good-looking young prospects—Tom Grive, who hit .296 at Burlington, N.C. and .290 at Salisbury, N.C., and Gene Martin, who hit .259 with Burlington but showed power with 15 homers and 39 RBI. With Howard an established power hitter, Williams undoubtedly would like to find someone to complement him—and it just could be Epstein, who hit at a .276 clip with 12 homers after returning from the minors.

The rest of the infield is veteran Bernie Allen at second base, Ed Brinkman at short and Ken McMullen at third. Two others who might break in are Dick Billings, 276 with 11 homers and 35 RBI at Buffalo, and Hank Allen, the brother of Philadelphia's Richie Allen.

Pitching is the big question mark. Williams sees strong arms, poor records—and wonders.

The big winner last year was the veteran Camilo Pascual, with a 13-12 record. The rest of the starting staff—Frank Bertina, Joe Coleman, Jim Hannan, Barry Moore and Ortega—let much to be desired, although Hannan was 10-6 after being recalled from Buffalo.

It's a staff with which Williams will be challenging what is considered the tougher of the two divisions that will make up the American League this year. The Senators are in with pennant-winning Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston and New York—the first five teams last year.

Making an impression in those circles may just be a little tougher than making one with Epstein.

Pipers Win On Last Second Shot by Heyman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gus Young, coach of the Minnesota Pipers, says his team was overdue for a final second American Basketball Association victory.

Art Heyman sank a field goal with one second to play and earned the Pipers a 130-128 victory over the Houston Mavericks Tuesday before a crowd of 218 in Houston.

"It's time we won one of those on the final horn after losing three or four that way this season," said Young.

Houston's Bob Varga had tied the game 128-128 with a three-point field goal from 25 feet out with 20 seconds to play. Chico Vaughn had connected on a three-point play with 59 seconds remaining.

Varga, who scored 48 against the Pipers Saturday night, led the Mavericks with 42 points while Stew Johnson hit 35. Tom Washington made 30 points for the Pipers.

The victory gave the Pipers a third place tie with Miami in the Eastern Division 1½ games back of first-place Kentucky.

Montreal Keeps Hex Over Blues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
St. Louis may be the best in the West but Montreal's East Division leaders have given them nothing but the Blues. The Canadiens stopped St. Louis 3-0 Tuesday night on a light National Hockey League schedule, extending the Blues' winless streak to 14 games with Montreal.

In the only other game, Boston and Minnesota played to a 3-3 tie.

Yvan Cournoyer and Henri Richard scored early power play goals for Montreal goalie and Gump Worsley racked up his fifth shutout of the season. The Canadiens' Mickey Redmond added a second-period goal.
